"It seems like more activities were taking place this year, which provided students with more opportunities to have fun."

- Lindsey Brungo

Students certainly grew, as did their outlook on life. Another year ended at Kiski High and the student body again achieved amazing feats. The students continued legendary traditions despite the many changes to the face of the school, proving that the district will only grow better and stronger

Outside the box...

Eager fans await the start of another football game at newly renovated Davis Field. When asked about the improvements, longtime gatekeeper, Mr. Toland, said, "I think the walkway in front of the home bleachers should have been lowered a bit to allow people in the front row to see more easily." Students hoped that the district would refurbish the Grandstand for the 2005-2006 school year.

Eager spectators...

Supporters look on as Kiski pulls off another win. One such onlooker, David Hill said, "We needed the student section back; it would have been so much better." Many fans felt the same way as Dave, but still turned up for another memorable season of Cavalier football.

Extreme fans...

Cory Walker, Travis Hartill, Matt Cable, Jared Dykes, and Alex Bue cheer for the Cavs in an unusually half-dressed way. When asked about the field Alex said, "Give me back my student section, dang it!" Alex also belonged to the dodgeball, French, SADD, and Pride clubs and participated in basketball and track.

"The new appearance made a difference in our play!"

Coach Grimm

Kiski Area has held athletic competition at Davis Field since its founding in 1962. At that point, players walked across the street to the basement of the old Jackson Elementary for half-time. Over time, the district installed on-location locker rooms for the teams. This year, Davis field moved further into the modern world.

The visitor and home sides reversed and put Kiski fans behind their team's bench. The old student section sat vacant, but Mr. Berberich said, "The plans for the student section will be discussed in Phase 3 of the process."

Along with the new bleachers, a new concession stand housed food in the visitor's section. New restrooms served as a convenience for patrons, as did the new ticket booths. A new audio system bellowed from the new press box. Junior Cory Smith said, "The field provoked crowd surfing; I'm not sure why." For fans, the Davis Field renovations brought pride back to a landmark home field.

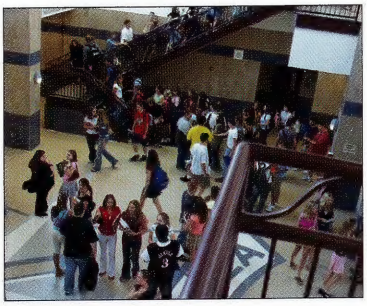
Day 1 - 2004-05
Front Atrium

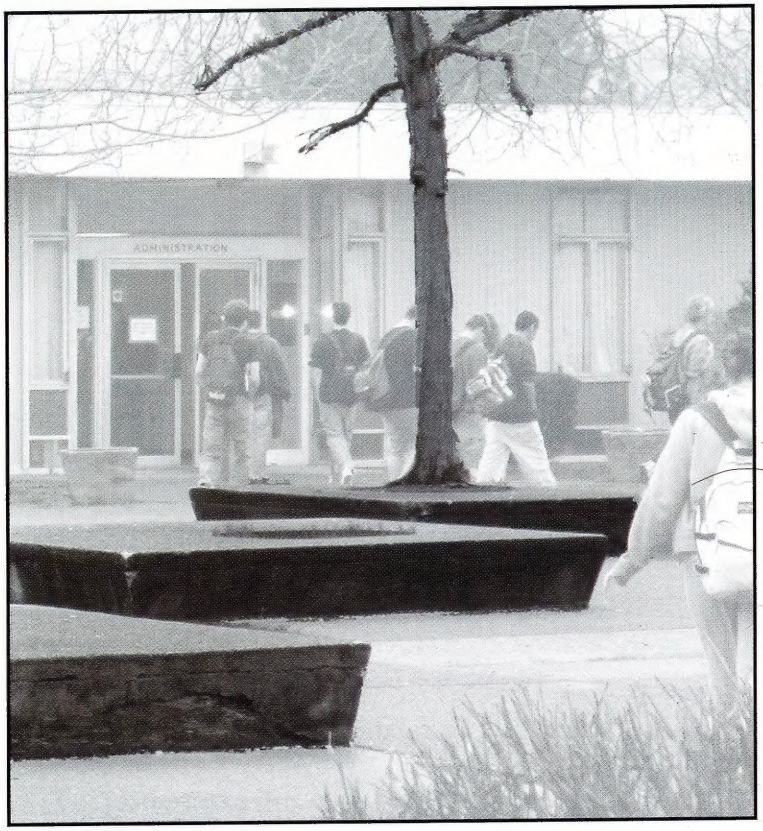


September 1, 2004, marked the first day that students entered the newly renovated high school. Fresh paint adorned the walls and a brand new gymnasium, two-story science wing, office, and library all greeted the students, ready for the school year to begin. Groundbreaking occurred in April of 2003 with a projected completion date of October 2005. However, Mr. Azinger, who helped lead the construction, said, "Right now, it looks like it (the construction) may be done in April of 2005."

The approximated cost of this undertaking added up to thirty two million dollars. When Kiski's doors opened forty-two years ago on September 5, 1962, the construction of the entire school cost a mere three million, six hundred and thirty thousand. At that time, the campus consisted of seven buildings on one hundred and five acres. With a total enrollment of one thousand two hundred and nineteen students, a demand for more than one cafeteria or gym did not exist. Later, however, due to increased student enrollment, a need for several gymnasiums and two cafeterias became necessary. In 1972, the demands for more buildings arose when the first renovations of Kiski Area High School took place, adding on the upper cafeteria, the old library, the pool, and the auxiliary gymnasium. Twenty years later, a need for even more room emerged. This led to the latest renovations that partially consisted of the new music rooms and refurbished cafeterias.

The style and design of the new and revamped school caused some debate among groups. In the end, architects utilized various curves and colors to compliment the sleek and modern design of the new face of Kiski.

- Rebecca Mohan



Days of old...
Past students traverse the old courtyard between classes. "I really missed the courtyard and the wind blowing through my hair as I walked to gym class," said Elizabeth Kraus about walking outside between periods. Construction workers replaced the courtyard with a new science wing and administration building.

"Who'd have thought the school could be so fabulous?"

Meg Mszyco

New and improved...

Morgan Gengo and Luke Mohamed happily stroll to class on one of the new walkways. When asked about the new renovations, Morgan said, "They were a hassle until completion." The original renovation plans called for seven courtyards around campus.

Haley Gearhart shows her elation after capturing the homecoming crown. When asked about the experience, Haley said, "I thought it was exciting and nerve-racking. I loved all the girls involved. Seeing everyone yell and scream when they called my name was awesome." As a token of good luck, Haley's grandmother gave her a four-leaf clover before the event.

Callie Martin, Allison Karan, Carrie Mazurek and Madeline McAvoy don their fiesta apparel as they prepare for the first annual homecoming parade. "I had fun in the parade and it was nice to pass out candy to the little kids," said Allison about the procession. Spanish club also set up a nacho booth for before the game.

"I never thought they would call my name!"

Haley Gearhart

The class of 2005 enjoyed a Homecoming laced with excitement and anticipation. Unlike many other Homecomings, the decision for Court took place in the spring of 2004. The evening of September 10 started off with a parade that, for the first time ever, included the support and involvement of high school clubs. Student Council, Key Club, Spanish Club and Politicos participated in the parade with floats and banners.

The football game started like any other but as the second quarter drew to a close, the suspense heightened. At half time, Samantha Gamble, Haley Gearhart, Shaily Jeffers, Amanda Kowalski, Angie Palermo and Katie Terrana lined up on the field with their escorts Cory Walker, Jordan Brown, Adam Yingling, Erik Suchevich, Matthew Boland and Nick Artman and awaited the results. Court member Amanda Kowalski said, "It was such an honor to be named to the Court and be a part of the great tradition!"

Cheers resonated throughout Davis Field as the announcer named Haley Gearhart the 2004 Homecoming Queen. Haley, excited and honored, said, "I think my good luck in becoming Homecoming Queen had a little to do with the four leaf clover my grandma gave me before the game." The excitement continued as the football players triumphed in a victory against Fox Chapel. The Cavaliers brought home a big win when they defeated the Foxes 19-6 and extended their winning streak.

Melissa Evans and cast rally for women's suffrage.

Just as the last scene of the fall drama came to a close, freshman Meagan Mszyco leaned toward the wings in a graceful pose and said, "I shall never forget you, Sherlock Holmes." Applause broke out after this moment from some of the largest crowds to attend a Drama Club production. This year's play simply entitled Sherlock Holmes boasted a cast of enthusiastic students who adapted distinguished British accents which brought life to the London-set comedy.

The 2004 show introduced a fair amount of adjustment to the Drama department. New directors Mrs. Holly Jacobs, Ms. Tiffani Columbus and Mrs. Colleen Flick brought about a fresh experience for everyone involved. When asked about her favorite aspect of Drama, junior Morgan Gengo said, "I loved the practices during which Mrs. Jacobs let us go crazy," perhaps such as when the cast performed their entire show in less than fifteen minutes even though the normal running time clocked in at over an hour. Senior Melissa Evans said, "We went on stage and gave it all we had. It was a great show, and the memories will last a lifetime." Melissa, along with senior actors Nick Artman, Samantha Gamble, Josh Humphrey, Allison Karan and Jessie Whitlinger masterfully led the Drama Club in their final year at Kiski.

After the curtain closed the final night of the show, Meagan's final line rang truer than ever. We shall never forget Sherlock Holmes.

Max Moio schemes in his lair. Nick Artman said, "Max, Josh Humphrey and I working together was basically like a Three Stooges marathon." Max portrayed the sinister Professor Moriarty and also participated in the musical.

Put that in your pipe...

Senior Nick Artman, playing Sherlock Holmes, pleads with freshman Meagan Mszyco, portraying Alice Faulkner. When asked about the drama, Meg said, "Sherlock was my first drama here at Kiski, and now I'm hooked." Meagan also played the piano, and participated on the Mock Trial team, Politicos, Student Council, and SADD.

Golden moment...

Bennett Golden and Samantha Trimmer sing and sway to the opening number. When asked about her thoughts on performing live, Sami said, "Dolly was my favorite high school musical. I forbade my parents to sit in the first half of the auditorium so I couldn't see them while I performed." Samantha and Bennett danced together for two years in show choir.

"All I have to say is that musical equals life!"

Max Moio

As the curtain rose before the mesmerized audience, it became obvious that an amazing transformation had overtaken the stage. Shops and houses masterfully constructed by the stage crew sprang out from whimsically painted backdrops. Suddenly voices rang throughout the auditorium, "Hello, Dolly. Well hello, Dolly!" It only took a moment for the small town of Yonkers, New York to come alive!

Under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Rupert, the cast rehearsed for about 10-15 hours a week from January until the show's opening in March. Mrs. Kimberly Stewart's professional caliber choreography gave the performance an impressive punch. Mr. George Wozniak and the pit band provided the proverbial backbone of the show.

The cast and crew of Hello Dolly faced many trials and tribulations. A particularly harsh winter often made practices difficult to attend. A spill at rehearsal required the assistance of an ambulance. The leading man, Patrick McDermott came down with mononucleosis causing much stress over his kissing scene with Stephanie Riddle. Stephanie, the highly celebrated Dolly, also battled the loss of her voice throughout the run of the show. Consequently, the success of Hello Dolly left all involved with a satisfied yet relieved feeling.

For Kiski students, late August and early September brought the beginning of another school year. However, for students in Florida and many other gulf states, hurricane season had arrived. Four hurricanes, Charley, Frances, Ivan and Jeanne, struck the south in six weeks and caused more monetary damage than the September 11th attacks three years before. One in every five Floridian homes suffered from damage and President Bush asked Congress for 12.2 billion dollars in hurricane relief efforts just in the United States.

Hurricane Ivan, which devastated at least eleven countries, left 52 Americans dead and resulted in six billion dollars worth of insurance claims. While southern areas received more severe damage than Pennsylvania, the destruction in our own state became anything but minor. Six Pennsylvanians died and 5 to 8 inches of rain pounded the state in less than 24 hours. Many Kiski students and teachers also felt the wrath of Hurricane Ivan. Perhaps Mrs. Held suffered from the most damage, with two feet of water covering her basement floor in her house along the Allegheny River. When asked about the flood water, Mrs. Held said, "I may not be a math teacher, but I know that two feet of flood water equals two inches of mud." She cleaned for a week, but thankfully lost no irreplaceable objects. Buying new bulbs for her tanning bed caused the most inconvenience. Senior Matt Rossitto also received a hard hit from Hurricane Ivan. The gravel in his driveway washed up into one huge pile and he said, "I could have white-water rafted in my driveway."

While people in the Kiski Area School District suffered from the fury of Hurricane Ivan, they also remained thankful for much. Clean-up might have lasted for a week or more, but no one suffered severe injuries. Material possessions washed away, but houses and families remained intact. While the storm's wrath caused anything but a walk in the rain, Kiski Area families survived the rage of Ivan the Terrible.

Loads of water...
A truck travels extremely slowly in many feet of flood water. Adam Yarussi said, "My neighbor's house had 18 inches of water ; they got new furniture the day before and it was destroyed." Adam lived in Allegheny Township, an area severely affected by the flood.

Row Row Row Your Boat...

Senora Held's husband and friend approach the Held residence the only way possible, by boat. "I found that two feet of floodwater equaled two inches of mud," said Senora Held about her basement floor. Senora Held also said that the Allegheny River has never risen so high for as long as she had lived there.

s the first snowflakes of the year began to fall, Kiski prepared for the Christmas Telethon. This annual charity fundraiser organized by members of Student Council and the Technology Services Team benefited the local chapter of the Salvation Army and the St. Vincent de Paul Society. For an entire week in December, students from the high school worked diligently at the Casino Theater, K-Mart and High Vision Studios to produce a nightly televised event.

A bake sale, raffle, auction and Battle of the Bands involved the student body in the fundraising efforts. A spare change drive called the Class Challenge became the single most popular fundraiser, in which each grade attempted to raise the most money in a week's time. A heated competition arose when the juniors' collection total surpassed that of the senior class. When asked about the surprising win, junior Luke Mohamed said, "I guess that all my ranting and raving on the Telethon with my friends actually got through to the juniors. The sweet smell of success fills our lungs now." The 2004 Telethon exceeded the past year's total of $20,000 and gave great hope for the future charity drives.

Dynamic Dancers Strut Their Stuff

With the senior year came college applications, SATs and research papers. However, seniors Amanda Kowalski and Courtney Petrina experienced much more.

For over 14 years, both Courtney and Amanda balanced dancing two to three nights a week with challenging academic courses and various school activities. Mandy perfected her techniques at Sandra Lynn's School of Dance while Courtney refined her skills at Marian Loraine School of Dance. Courtney has competed in various competitions, including Starpower and Starquest. She received a special award from Great Poise; Mandy has placed in the top five of many competitions as well. Both girls agreed that, "you can't go wrong with jazz." "I liked being happy and you could never be sad in Jazz," said Amanda.

Before every event, Amanda prayed with the girls for a safe performance, for good luck and most importantly, for the girls not to make fools of themselves. Her big dog and lucky bear sat by her side at every event. Amanda has always looked up to her older sister Melissa because, "She devoted herself to dance and I admired that," said Amanda. Likewise, Courtney's family stood by her every step of the way.

Both girls planned to continue dancing as long as possible because as Courtney said, "I loved what I did and I just kept doing it."

No matter what the future held for these two rising stars, one could certainly say that Courtney and Amanda danced brilliantly through their senior year.

Rowdy Duo Raises Spirits Nationally

The Miss Cheerleader of America Competition, showcasing the best high school cheerleaders from around the United States, featured two of the district's own. Seniors Samantha Gamble and Kristina Moreth competed last year during a weekend-long event filled with laughs, fun, and lots of yelling. "It was very exciting," said Kristina. She further said, "A whole weekend with cheerleaders from West Virginia and Pennsylvania could never ever become boring."

While most kids came home after school in fourth grade to watch second-rate cartoons, Kristina and Samantha went to cheerleading practice, which helped to facilitate their success today. Of course, the girls would not have accomplished so much without the tutelage of some great mentors. "My sister has been a great influence to me. She has coached, supported and cheered me on for many years," said Samantha.

Kristina and Sam stood out not only in the sport of cheerleading, but they also excelled in the classroom and in the community. Both girls stayed extremely active in various clubs and extracurricular activities. While Kristina and Samantha have catalyzed the sports teams on to many victories, the girls both deserved a huge cheer for all they have accomplished.

"Rally's Back With Patty Mac"

new school year brought the start of a new football season and Kiski fans continued to support the team by attending the Rally in the Alley before each home game.

The Rally in the Alley originated during the football season of 2001 when Joe Intrieri, a 2004 graduate, held a tailgate party for his friends before a home football game. He had T-shirts made for the event and soon students around the school adorned themselves in Rally gear. After Joe graduated, the tradition lived on in Patrick McDermott's alley. Pat said, "I think that Joe really had a great vision. The Rally promoted unity and school spirit. Hopefully everyone found it enjoyable this year and I was glad that I could continue a tradition that may go on for years to come."

Sisters junior Jena Karafinski and sophomore Amy Karafinski will host the next rallies. This unique tradition allowed students to show their support and provided a venue for shared spirit.

Competition Unlike Any Other

The 2005 Senior Class featured many students with a wide variety of backgrounds, interests and family traditions. Louis Lehosky and his family bred their own Brittany Spaniels and sold them throughout the United States. The family competed in nationwide events and traveled as far as Michigan to show their prized pure breeds. Throughout the field trials the canines received countless awards.

"My mom started with these competitions over 35 years ago," said Louie. The Lehosky's business and competitive edge grew continually throughout the years.

At a young age, Lou began training the dogs. His favorite dog, Trouble, won awards even as a puppy. Louie and his family competed in shows during the summer and participated in field trials during the spring and fall. Along with the contest schedule, Louie also found time to mountain bike and sail. Certainly, talents of the senior class acclaimed national attention.

Sisterly love...

Haley Gearhart and Megan Gearhart, 2002 graduate, show their elation after Haley received the 2004 homecoming crown. Upon inquiry about that evening Haley said, "It was nice to share that night with Meg because in 2001, she was on the court, also." Haley served as senior class president and president of Pride Club. Haley also expressed gratitude for her family's support for homecoming and all of her other involvements.

Hours and Hours

Top Ten Timely Activities

In a society where most colleges aimed to accept only the most well-rounded of applicants, the average student felt pressured to excel in academics, as well as sports, music, and a variety of extra-curricular activities. Consequently, at times, the most valuable resource became time itself. In an effort to further examine the time commitments necessary to succeed in sports, clubs, and other activities, the yearbook staff distributed questionnaires to coaches and advisors. After much number crunching and verification of hours, staff members created the following list of the most time-consuming activities in the school.

In compiling the hours, only mandatory practices or activities counted. Additionally, the staff only considered hours when the majority of the club or team attended. Individual training and lessons did not contribute to the total amount. Hopefully, one can gain a greater appreciation for students' dedication and commitment.

Breathtaking Senior Owns Pool

For many students in the summer of 2004, swimming proved an enjoyable way to cool off and relax, but very few took it as seriously as senior Seth Hazlett.

Seth began swimming at five years old and quickly surfaced as an imposing figure in competitive swimming. Seth practiced two hours per day Monday through Friday. When asked about his favorite memory, Seth said, "Taking third at WPIAL my freshman year was a great experience."

Seth then went on to place fifth in the state of Pennsylvania. He repeatedly broke the school record in the 100-yard Butterfly, earning the titles of Rookie of the Year as a freshman and Most Valuable Player in his sophomore and junior years. He never finished under the top five in WPIAL competition and he continued to push himself at every meet.

When asked about his favorite swim coach, Seth pinpointed John Mazurek because, "He was crazy and a lot of fun; but beyond that, he was the one that first got me into butterfly." Seth's training definitely prepared him to confidently dive into his next lap in life.

District Hires New Principal

Changing of the Guard

In spring of 2004, vice-principal Larry Steuart retired and Mr. Anthony Gonnella stepped in to take his place. Mr. Gonnella came from Pittsburgh with big shoes to fill. Naturally, any administrator that took Mr. Steuart's former position had to have excellent credentials, though Mr. Gonnella's appear exceptional.

A devoted Catholic, he attended Our Lady of the Most Blessed Sacrament grade school in Homewood, Pennsylvania followed by Penn Hills High School. As for post-secondary education, he graduated from Clarion State University and received his Principal's certification from both the University of Pittsburgh and California State University. He taught in the classroom for eleven years, also serving as a football, track and fitness coach. Mr. Gonnella began his administrative career in 1995. When asked why he started teaching, he said, "For the love of the students and to get the opportunity to help them be as successful as possible - creating a better future."

Upon arrival, Mr. Gonnella brought with him a feeling of optimism and hope. Without question, he surpassed all expectations and his presence proved truly inspiring. When asked how he felt about coming to work everyday, he said, "Can't you hear you me whistling on my way to work in the morning? Honestly, I love it as much as I did the day I began teaching so many years ago."

Staff Spotlights Counseling Genius

Manganello the Magnificent

For the 2005 book, the yearbook staff collectively decided to recognize one fantastic guidance counselor. Ms. Denise Manganello began her career after attending Kiski Area High School and Robert Morris College. She continued at the University of Pittsburgh where she received her Masters, and she then attended Indiana University of Pennsylvania for her guidance certification. Between teaching Career classes, helping manage the student store, and handling snags among the student body, Miss Mag kept the school running as efficiently as possible. "There was no average day here," she said with a laugh.

Ms. Manganello had various jobs, some similar to and different from those of the other three counselors. Ms. Manganello helped the other counselors run KASPER and recorded online data for SATs. Her other jobs varied between grade levels. Freshmen received help with scheduling conflicts as well as support for their adjustment to a new environment. Seniors sought help with the preparation of college applications, transcripts and PSSA remedial courses. Miss Mag also assisted the office secretaries and kept the PassKey learning program run smoothly

"I wanted to help students with everyday problems and support them in any way possible; I knew this would be the best way." Coupled with Ms. Reynolds, Ms. Antennucci and Mr. Duppstadt, students always knew where to find all the answers they needed. Miss Mag and the other counselors performed their best to assure each student a promising future.

Spanish Club Dishes Up Spicy Salsa

Shakin' Your Bon-Bon

For the first time, students at Kiski celebrated Dia de la Raza. This holiday observed on October 12 commemorated Spanish ethnicity and tradition. All day long, the Spanish Club held a party in the atrium where professional dance instructor Marlon Silva taught various Spanish dances. For many students, the best part of the day involved learning the salsa and merengue from the lively Venezuelan instructor. Cultures, Spanish and Life Skills students enjoyed the festivities.

The idea for the celebration originated when senior Danielle Manni suggested that Mr. Silva come to enhance the cultural experience at Kiski. Together, Spanish Club members and sponsor Mrs. Love planned the day to expose students to Latin American culture.

The party heightened when two booths opened to sell Spanish food such as churros dipped in chocolate and nachos. The proceeds of the fundraiser helped cover the expenses for the Spanish Club's field trip to Pittsburgh where they watched professional dancers and ate authentic cuisine.

The day proved exciting and enriching for all who attended. "For the Spanish Club, it was an excellent day and a complete success. We earned money for the club and everyone had a lot of fun," said Brandon Mator. This fiesta brought spice and warmth to the chilly atrium.

Project Unlike Any Other

Most students dreaded the teacher's announcement of another "big project." However, most students in Mr. Fantaski's Math Analysis class expressed a different reaction. Projects formed the basis of the course and replaced all testing. The first project of the year integrated math and social skills, resulting in a very unique combination. The goals of the project included experiencing real-life applications of slope, linear and circle equations, unit conversions and learning about life outside Southwestern Pennsylvania.

Groups of two students received the names of two small, virtually unknown towns in Pennsylvania. Obscure locations included Kleinfeltersville, Wilawana, Perkiomenville, Mummasburg, and Rough and Ready. Requirements included locating their towns and coordinates, finding the distances between towns, calculating the equations of the circles around each town and noting where the circles intersected. The students then received instructions to call, introduce themselves, and interview a person living in one of their towns. Mr. Fantaski's class learned all sorts of information about the townspeople, local school district, mascot, etc. Interviewers discovered the contacts' favorite holidays, restaurants, the towns' populations and the town with the closest Wal-Mart!

This project served as a vital learning experience for the Math Analysis students in two very important areas of their lives. From all reports, the students will remember Mr. Fantaski and their senior math class for the rest of their lives.

Bidogy Lab Entices Students' Appetites

To learn about cells, Mr. Pugliese's classes created models of cells using various food products. The Applied Biology and Chemistry classes got the chance to take part in this exciting lab demonstration. Their creative teacher said, "The Edible Cell lab acquainted students with the organelles of both plant and animal cells. Peanut butter and pizza were just some of the interesting foods."

Students constructed their own cells using food products that many find on the dinner table. Everything from hard-boiled eggs to pound cake found its way to room 124. The food opened up the minds of the students to the ideas of cellular composition. Freshman Amanda Mattei said, "The lab really helped me to understand the concept. The food made it really visual for me." While 'the way to a man's heart is through his stomach,' Mr. Pugliese proved the stomach also led to the mind.

Falling Head Over Heels About Art

Natural Wonder

In the fall of 2004, the Architecture and Art III students experienced world-famous architect Frank Lloyd Wright's masterpiece, Fallingwater. Built in 1935 and situated in quaint Ohiopyle, Pennsylvania, Bear Run creek flows under the house while existing rock formations help create cantilevered horizontal supports.

The trip, designed to show students both art and architecture, provided for a versatile learning environment. The Art students, along with their teacher Mr. Jack Jewart, observed the design of the house, art collections within the house and visual aesthetics. Senior Art III student Donny Thomas said, "The parts of the house I liked the most were the Asian influenced art and the natural aspects of the home. If I had enough money, I would buy that house and live there."

The Architecture students concentrated on the structure of the building as well as the engineering involved and the layout of the rooms. Senior Architecture student Erik Suchevich said, "I liked how the house hung over the stream and waterfall. It really made me think about all the planning that was involved." No matter what aspect of the house students focused on, the trip to Fallingwater provided a great learning experience for all who attended.

High School Receives Health Help

Double Duty

Over the years, Kiski students have enjoyed the smiling and friendly faces of the school nurses. The pleasure has doubled over the past two years since Mrs. Mozina and Mrs. Kautz joined the faculty.

The nurses, along with the students and faculty, have enjoyed the new health suite. The facility provided all parties with more room in the waiting area, a greater number of screening areas and room for extra cots.

Mrs. Mozina and Mrs. Kautz agreed that working as a team made the extra consultation easier and helped the day run smoothly. The sharing of responsibilities made seeing sixty or more students each day much easier. Mrs. Mozina said, " I am a month and a half ahead of time in work with Mrs. Kautz's help."

Although the new facility made the task easier, the job still had its ups and downs. Mrs. Kautz said, " The worst aspect of the job was seeing a person not able to follow through on a recommendation." Nevertheless, both nurses used their skills every day to help Kiski feel better and that, they agreed, remained the most rewarding part of their job.

Students Recognize Favorite Teacher

Eclectic Educator

Leechburg, Pa. has proudly called itself the birthplace to one of the greatest minds in Kiski Area history. This particular mind belongs to Mr. Lou Vergari, the 2003-2004 Teacher of the Year. Mr. Vergari has walked the hallowed halls of Kiski Area High School for the last fourteen years. During this time, he has become one of the most popular and respected teachers in the school's 43-year history. He has taught several science courses in his career, including his two personal favorites, earth science and astronomy. When asked why he chose to become a high school science teacher, Mr. Vergari said, "I didn't pick it. It picked me." When not molding adolescent minds, he enjoyed stargazing, tinkering with old cars and spending time with his wife, four kids and cat.

As many have noticed, Mr. Vergari had longer hair than most female faculty members. When questioned as to why he kept his hair the way he did, he said, "My wife liked it." While his wife has worshipped the long hair, Mr. Vergari had a fondness for a plateful of spaghetti and meatballs and has taken a liking to the tunes of John Lennon pre-Yoko Ono, Bob Dylan and Ian Anderson, the flutist of Jethro Tull. The lyrics of those artists spoke of the troubled times of war in the 1960's and 1970's America, which still exist today. With that in mind, Mr. Vergari said for the class of 2005, "I wish for nothing more than peace in their time." Only a man with that type of character could call himself Teacher of the Year.

Room 405 Life

Learning Skills to Last a Lifetime

After spending 18 years in the arguably smallest room in the "old" KAHS, the Life Skills class moved this year to Room 405. The new and improved classroom provided a better learning environment for the students. Under the direction of Ms. Mary Leezer and Ms. Diane Donati, the students increased their knowledge and learned useful skills in art, mathematics, reading, writing and spelling. Student helpers known as "buddies" assisted not only with the educational process, but also worked to strengthen the communication skills of those students in 405.

Two of the more interesting aspects of a typical week involved foods and gym classes. One may have strolled past 405 and whiffed the fresh aroma of eggs and toast or witnessed the students making various delectable sandwiches. Not only did the foods classes provide a quality late-day snack, but they also taught the students proper table etiquette. The gym classes gave the students a much needed break in the day for amusement. They did calisthenics, but they also played all types of games ranging from hockey to kickball and even bowling. Junior Lindsay Plowman said, "It was a lot of fun! It was a great way for everyone to let out their energy and have fun." No matter what the activity, the students learned skills that will help them in the future.

Dedicated Team Shines School

One Clean Sweep

A sweep and a smile.

Longtime dedicated sweeper, Nancy Gasbarro cleans the floor in room 103 so students can learn in a pleasant environment. When asked about her 34 years of experience, Nancy said, "Working at Kiski has been a pleasant experience. I have really enjoyed both the teachers and the students." Nancy lives in Allegheny Township with her sisters and two cats, Tommy and Pepper.

The new building stayed spotless with the hard work and dedication of the sweepers. Not only did they clean up messes, they also paid close attention to every nook and cranny of reopened hallways and classrooms. Who kept the furniture in the high school free from construction dirt and dust? This caring crew of cleaners more than fulfilled its duty.

The sweepers provided more than custodial skills to the students at Kiski Area High School. Junior Stephen Lucas experienced a memorable moment after school. He recalled, "It was the Friday afternoon before the first show choir performance of the year, and I had forgotten half of my outfit." When he entered the building, Stephen explained a very unfortunate chain of complications to one of the sweepers, who helped him retrieve his shirt and pants just before the building closed.

While students seldom interacted with those responsible for maintaining the quality and cleanliness of the new school, appreciation for their duties remained strong. As a direct reflection of the sweepers' efforts, students, administration and faculty certainly enjoyed an atmosphere conducive to learning.

Food for Thought

Students Gain Valuable Culinary Experience

The Culinary Arts program taught students about all areas of institutional and restaurant work. Students learned skills through a combination of theory and hands-on food preparation under the supervision of an experienced chef and baker.

Culinary Arts students operated the school restaurant that opened daily for the public. Students learned to select, prepare, and serve a variety of foods using many different techniques. Instruction included safety and sanitation, equipment usage, as well as nutrition and food preparation. Students also learned table setting, menu preparation, costing and table service. Holiday and ethnic foods, poultry, meats, vegetables, and desserts represented some of the laboratory offerings. Students could try their hands at cake decorating and "garde manager."

Students who attended Northern Westmoreland Career and Technology Center stood eligible to participate in a work-release program during their senior year. In addition, students could participate in internship and job shadowing. Finally, in attending the Culinary Arts curriculum, students benefited from the career placement and career assistance programs.

Heavy Metal Returns

Students Find Machine Tooling Success

The Machine Tool Technology program prepared students to apply technical knowledge and skill in all aspects of shaping metal into parts. Instruction involved making computations related to work dimensions, tooling, feeds, and speeds of machine tools. With an emphasis on practical machine skills, classroom instruction included blueprint reading, machine theory, tooling, geometry, and related math formulas. The safe, practical operation of industrial-type machine tools, which included the drill press, lathe, milling machines (horizontal and vertical), various types of saws, and precision surface grinders took top priority.

The program also included basic instruction on bench work as well as the use of precision measuring instruments, methods of machining and layout of machine parts. The shop featured modern industrial-type machine tools, which included digital readouts of the Bridgeport milling machine and engine lathes. The daily monitored safety program stood out as an integral part of the machine course. The program prepared students to set up and operate all types of hand and computer-controlled machines and offered basic instruction in Computer Numerical Control (CNC), which included programming, plotting, and machining using Mastercam CAD/CAM software.

The Machine Tool Technology program consistently placed more than 90 percent of its students in local machine shops. This program also seemed ideal for students who planned to go on to college or technical school to pursue an associate degree in engineering or tool design or a bachelor's degree in manufacturing.

Scorecard

The Kiski Area Cavalier football players walked out North Allegheny holding their heads high on October 9, 2004. Though the team fell to Central Catholic in e first round of the WPIAL playoffs, the members owed strong resilience in head coach Dave Grimm's al game. In his final season as head coach, he led the am to a fourth consecutive playoff appearance, while ing the typical ups and downs of another fantastic ason of Cavalier football. The Cavaliers got off to a ing hot start to the 2004 season, winning the first three games of the season with a combined score of 81-19. However, in the third game of the season, while facing Fox Chapel, the injury bug bit hard. Starting quarterback Mychal Skinner got knocked out for the game and much of the season with an ankle ailment. Many wondered whether the team could keep vying for a spot in the playoffs after losing a key starter for the second time in three years.

The team kept rolling to the playoffs, although they faltered in the final four games of the season. When asked about the most devastating moment of the season, junior fullback Shawn Daugherty said, "The most crushing time was when we lost to the Plum Mustangs on October 8th. Everyone tried so hard to win that game and when it was over everyone was incredibly emotional." The Cavalier football team rode a crazy roller coaster of a season, but they showed the gritty determination of champions.

The heat of summer drew sweat from their brows as they finished up a pre-season practice. The girls of the JV cheerleading squad headed out to the parking lot on their way home. That statement holds true, with one exception. Senior Kristina Moreth didn't make it to the parking lot. Instead, she tripped and broke her foot. No, she didn't fall from a lift or a toss; she stumbled over her own two feet walking out to her car. Several cheerleaders recounted the tale when asked of what one thing from the year drew the most laughs from the team.

The girls not only were driven in practice, but in competition as well. Under the leadership of captain Kristina Moreth and her co-captains Samantha Gamble and Cheyenne Jackson, the team debated quite a few months around the area. After attending two competitions, one at Indiana University of Pennsylvania and the other at the University of Pittsburgh, the girls walked away with first and second place finishes respectively. After winning both of these, the squad gained a bid to Nationals, which is very successful season ended away under the belt, the team intended to continue the winning ways.

As collegiate competitions became more widely covered by the media, did the pressure increase on high school teams?

"Yes, because the more the media was involved, the more advanced and extreme the competition became."
Sam Gamble

"Yes, because of constant attention, high school squads felt they needed to look like what was on television."

Runners Cruise Through Another Spectacular Season

The Girls Cross Country team finished their "Happy ... time singing Tim McGraw's well-known song that ends ... if you want it all, you've to lay it all on the line!" For this ... group of girls, "Happy Circle" remained a tradition ...ughout the 2004 season. Before each race the girls ...d stand in a circle, their right feet inside, arms linked and ...p each other up. This ritual must have helped because the ... finished their season with a record of 6-2, along with ... male counterparts.

Mr. Angyros and Mrs. Schaeffer worked with captains ...nne Martin, Erik Suchevich, Teresa Cacco and Meaghan ...gy to build two very strong teams. The girls finished 2nd in the county, losing the title by only 3 points. That same county race at Kiski Prep became a defining moment for sophomore Abe Waddell who said, " It was a turning point for me personaly because I actually tried and got a personal record, even though it is the toughest course around."

The teams faced many tough dilemmas. Rival Central Catholic handed the boys one of only two losses. Although the guys had anticipated a difficult meet, the close match-up kept their hopes alive the entire 3.1 mile race. Meanwhile, the girls lost a few key runners to injuries. Teammate Jena Gardone showed true enthusiasm for the sport and ran a race with a broken foot. Team runs and tough workouts brought this group of extraordinary runners even ... together. As senior Callie Martin said, "Our team was very united this year. We not only hung out at practice, but the girls also spent time together outside of school and practice. We were more like a family than a team."

Two members of the boys team attended the state competition. With over 400 competitors, sophomore Steve Mszyco finished 74th and senior Erik Suchevich crossed the line as number 212. These two exceptional athletes, along with their teammates, certainly answered Tim McGraw's question, 'Are you eating, sleeping, dreaming with that ... thing on your mind?

As the girls team finished stuffing and licking to "Samba", they thought about the upcoming playoff game. For the first time in many years, the girls made it to the playoff level. Despite their loss to Hampton in the post-season, senior Marissa Smay felt the year remained a success because, "the team got along better than any other year I could remember" Led by captains Haley Gearhart, Shelly Jeffers, Melisa Sharek and Emily Mann and coaches Mr. Sharek and Mr. Bowman, the girls finished with a record of 11-4-1. They beat long-time rival Plum and fondly recalled relay races at practice. However, freshman Cassie Curran could not escape the season injury-free and left the field with a chipped pelvis.

Refusing to do any less than their fellow female athletes, the boys also advanced to the playoffs for the first time in Kiski Area history. Though they lost to Fox Chapel, the boys remained proud of their history-making season, accented by senior Ross Potter leaving his final game with a broken nose. With a spectacular record of 13-5 in regular season play, the boys beat their rivals Penn Trafford the second time around with a score of 6-0 thanks to coaches Bob Wright and "G". When asked to sum up the season, senior Wesley Kende said only two words "Eww dam."

The soccer season began as any other. However, these two fabulous teams took full advantage of their skill and passion and made the season unforgettable.

Precision pass.
Melisa Sharek concentrates on moving the ball. "Soccer has always been very fun and rewarding and this past season was the best this program has had in a long time," said Melisa. She also loved hanging out with friends and skiing.

How do you feel about the gap in recognition of soccer in our country versus the widespread popularity of the sport in other areas?

"I thought people underestimated the talent. Because of football, people forgot about soccer."
Lindsay Plowman

"It was kind of unfair because Americans were stupid and liked football."
Jesse Randall

Golfers Offer "Behind the Greens" Scoop On Season

Gone dubbing. Paul Braun gets caught in a backswing. "Golf team was a great experience throughout high school. I hold nothing but fond memories with the rest of the team and will miss it very much when I go to college," said Paul about the sport. Paul also enjoyed playing ping pong and racquetball.

Lately, the big winners in golf have been young women. Has that altered your perspective on the sport?

"Yes, because it proved that girls could be just as good as the male pros." Jenna Talarom

"No, because women really have improved." Eric Gadola

Beating the Burrell Bucs became the only ought racing through senior Allison Salego's nd as her and partner Laura Sisko drilled their ponents. "Follow through, just follow through," eated in her mind.

With just 12 members on the team, the remained a closely-knit group. "Our mwork was one of kind. We were very team nted and I know I could always count on m both on and off the court," said Allison Salego. Their team work showed before every match, because as the team puts it, they liked to "Git 'R Done."

Both Laura and Allison had their share of wins. Beating their biggest rival Burrell as well as winning a close match against Indiana made them stronger both as a team and as partners. Laughs often resounded from their courts as well. "Nailing Laura in the butt with a tennis ball was the funniest thing all season," said Allison.

The most upsetting part of the season fell upon their last match. "Senior night was hard because it meant having to say goodbye to not only my teammates but my friends," Laura Sisko said. With the many memories, triumphs and defeats, the girls managed to make this a season to cherish. In the words of the team, the girls "Got 'R Done."

Eric Jeffries nails a solid backhand. In response to the question below Eric said, "I don't know about credibility, but tennis would not have been the same without Anna Kournakova." Eric also wrestled and played soccer.

Has the recent influx of certain rebellious young players, such as Andy Roddick and Anna Kournakova lessened the credibility of tennis?

"Look at John McEnroe..maybe we should have acted out on the court and we could have attracted crowds at matches too."
Wes Kendle

"Absolutely not - it has made people strive harder for their goals and dreams."

Hoping to continue their tradition of excellence at Kiski Area High School, the Cavalier wrestlers headed for their twelfth consecutive Section IV title and a shot at the WPIAL Championships in the '04-'05 season. The team began their season on the 8th of December in their new gymnasium to a welcoming home crowd. Sophomore 112-pounder Mike Spisak said of the new gym, "it just felt wrong until we won, then everything was back to normal." However, what Kiski Area wrestlers considered normal remained far above ordinary. The season started with a tremendous victory at the Eastern Area Tournament over fierce competition. This began another year of Section IV and WPIAL powerhouse status.

Before matches the team performed what has become known throughout the state as the "Kiski Area Warm-up." This warm-up consisted of an hour's worth of sleep in the middle of the mat with a few Cheez-Its, gummy bears and 130-pound junior Tyler Craver's famed stuffed polar bear. After a victory, most of the team flocked to anywhere that had large quantities of food, which they often regretted having eaten afterward. Many nights consisted of gatherings in teammates' houses which wrestlers spent reminiscing about past matches and never forgotten moments.

When the time came to become serious, the wrestlers knew what to do. Freshman-starter Tony Clark said, "our practices were intense day after day and we had a tough schedule, but we made it through." This remained an understatement all season long. The team's bonds strengthened as the season continued, making for another thrilling and unforgettable chapter in the long and proud history of Kiski Area Wrestling.

Shot after shot pounded the Cavs' goaltender. The puck sailed his way 52 times in all, but junior Luke Mohamed made 46 fantastic saves in this particularly taxing game. When asked what he brought to the team, Luke said, "star goaltending and all around wonderful play."

The team shared many exciting experiences over the course of the season. The players made a favorite memory on a trip to Erie for a game. At the rink they came across a few items that eventually made the trip back to Kiski. The memorabilia included the shirts of a minor league team, Erie McDowell, which the Cavalier Ice Hockey team treasures to this day.

The time the boys spent together cemented many strong friendships. The team dreaded the loss of its seven senior members. However, the players felt confident that their unity would not dwindle in the future. Playing together, sharing memories and adding new friends to the roster kept the team strong in 2004.

Swimmers Splash through Pool of Competition

The familiar voice of Mr. Starter echoed across the water. "Swimmers, take your marks." After the tension in the air built a deafening silence, the buzzer rang and the whole deck came alive as the swimmers flew from the blocks.

The swimmers enjoyed the benefits of an overhauled locker room. Much to the delight of the athletes, the showers miraculously provided hot water, a luxury absent in past years. A brand new sound system added to the atmosphere on deck.

The 2004-2005 Swim team boasted a rather successful season in many respects. Under the direction of coach Ruggeri and captains Evan Durkin, Seth Hazlett, Ashley Moran and Christina Romano the Cavs not only improved their record, but also their morale. "The team gets along much better. We've always kept a positive outlook and it shows," said senior and long-time swimmer Erica Barr.

Despite a large number of rookies, the swimmers never failed to display amazing skill. Seth Hazlett continued to make waves, breaking his own record of the 100-yard Butterfly for the second consecutive year. Seth and several others from the team also proudly represented Kiski in WPIAL competition. With so much talent, the Cavaliers made quite a splash!

Lindsey Kuruc stood poised at the foul line in anticipation of the clincher foul shot she would have to make to keep the Lady Cavs in contention with the Connellsville Falcons at the girls' home opener. Brilliantly, the team started off a great season by winning their tip-off tournament games and the first two section games. Blair Saul, a sophomore girls basketball starter, said, "The wins at the beginning of the season really gave us a good start and pushed us to play hard for the rest of the season." The new and realigned Quad A Section 1 teams proved to present some tough competition for the Cavs.

The girls basketball players had fun in bonding both on and off the court. Hence the season proved memorable for all. "No matter win or lose, we were there to put each other up. We also had fun and bonded as a team, like hearing some of the sophomores' 'crazy stories,' said senior starter Lindsey Kuruc. The Lady Cavs had a good season despite some upsets and the team said goodbye to four seniors: Lindsey Kuruc, Lauren Golembiewski, Carla Fester and Shayla Knight.

A little bounce.
Lindsey Kuruc dribbles down the court. "I think we had a lot of talent on the team, but sometimes we didn't know how to use it," said Lindsey of the season. She also liked shopping, hanging out with her friends and going to the movies.

Has the recent controversy surrounding Kobe Brayant lessened your respect for the pros?

"Well, yes but I've always liked college ball better anyhow. I hate the pros."
Kaitlin Kimble

"I agree with Kaitlin because they play harder in college and the pros do things they shouldn't."

The crowd sat in suspense as senior Adam Yingling seemed to hang in mid-air as he shot a 10-foot jumper in an attempt to tie in the Kiski versus Plum home opener. Thoughts raced through spectators' minds. Would the boys team make the playoffs for the second year in row? With only two varsity lettermen, Adam Yingling and Mychal Skinner, returning for the season, the Cavs had their work cut out for them. Adam Yingling said, "Our home opener game was really fun for me even though we lost. The crowd had a lot of energy which made the game so much more exciting to play." That game also represented the first boys varsity basketball game ever played in the new gymnasium.

Despite many of the tough challenges the team faced, including two new teams added to the section, they worked hard together and had a good time doing so. Pat McDermott, another senior player, said, "The day before our games we would always do this crazy chant at practice. It was silly but it got the team pumped up." This team certainly proved the old adage that "It's not whether you won or lost, it's how you played the game."

Did the Detroit Pistons controversy affect your view of professional basketball?

"I think the incident put a black spot on the game and all involved should have been punished accordingly."
Pat McDermott

"They should have taken more responsibility for their actions."

The smell of grass in the cool air, the cheering of the fans, the feel of a bat in the hand... nothing could excite a crowd more than a baseball game. Coached by Mr. Jewart, the team managed to heighten the exhilaration by advancing deep into the playoffs. When asked about the funniest moment of the season, junior outfielder Mark Henry said, "While the construction was going on, they took out the locker rooms during the State Playoffs and we had to get dressed out on the tennis courts." The team increased its intensity as they progressed through the playoffs. Team members experienced more surprise from the turnout of fans to their games than by their own tremendous performance. "We knew we were good," said senior Derek Falleder, but the entire team felt shocked by the sheer number of baseball fans appearing at the games later in the season. Falleder and his friend senior Adam Yingling seemed very pleased with the coaching as well. "All of our coaches did an excellent job in motivating and preparing us for our run at the state championships 'down in through der.'" Adam said. The tremendous efforts of this year's team pleased fans to no end.

"I thought it was terrible. Athletes should not lower themselves to drug use."
Josh Humphrey

"It was disgraceful and anyone that was caught should lose their record."
Adam Yingling

The extra innings against Franklin Regional allowed many thoughts to surface for junior Elise Moore. She silently wondered, "Did we work hard enough to win or would we lose it with one pitch?" The KA Softball team shared their season with many ups and downs. Ending with a record of 8-7-1, 16 team members left with more memories and friendships than regrets. "Our team remained close throughout the whole season. We bonded a lot at practices and we were able to work as one," Elise said. This carried them through and allowed them to reach the playoffs. Despite a loss early in the season to section title holders Franklin Regional, Kiski's girls rallied together and knocked the champs 'out of the park' on our Senior night.

Quirky little rituals before every game helped pump up the girls and deliver a positive message before taking their positions. "1...2...3...TOGETHER!" echoed from the dugout before the girls took the field to crush their opponents. Elise Moore said, "This was a fun and successful season. The coaches and teammates both shared dedication and the desire to do whatever we had set our boats"

Scorecard

The Cavalier Boys and Girls Track teams not only knew how to carve on themselves at the finish line, they knew how to get there the quickest. The first team to win back to back Westmoreland County Coaches Association Championships, the track team proved their true grit. This accolade did not come solely from their exceptional talent, but resulted from hours outside in all elements and a bond between the talented individuals, both on and off the track.

The season began in the darkest days of winter for off season training. The athletes stayed after school during their free time to contribute to the good of the cause. Workouts consisted of endless pull-ups, sit-ups, and lots of weight lifting. Then, as other teams at Kiski worked out in their heated gyms, the distance runners strapped on their earmuffs and ventured out into freezing weather to get in their daily run. "The girls and the guys had snowball fights just about everyday, and I threw a snowball right in Joey Olszewski's face and ran. He chased me up the bunker, pushed me down and shoved my face in the snow," said junior Meaghan Conroy of her winter track adventures.

On the very opposite end of the spectrum, as the days grew longer and the grass turned green, the track team sprinted around the Kiski Area High School track. The heat and the pressure to excel did not crack the spirits of team. The coaching staff, including the return of Mr. George Angyres, had the team together through their triumphant season. The bond formed created lasting memories for all involved. Before races, many runners motivated one another to perform at their highest level. Zach Talmadge said, "at the WPIAL Team Finals, Luke Duranciak was running the final leg of the 4x4 relay, and we were still in the hunt for victory. Luke was two strides behind the first place runner, when all of a sudden he dove forward, reaching out the baton and winning the race." Attitudes and drive such as this have created Section Championships and lasting life lessons.

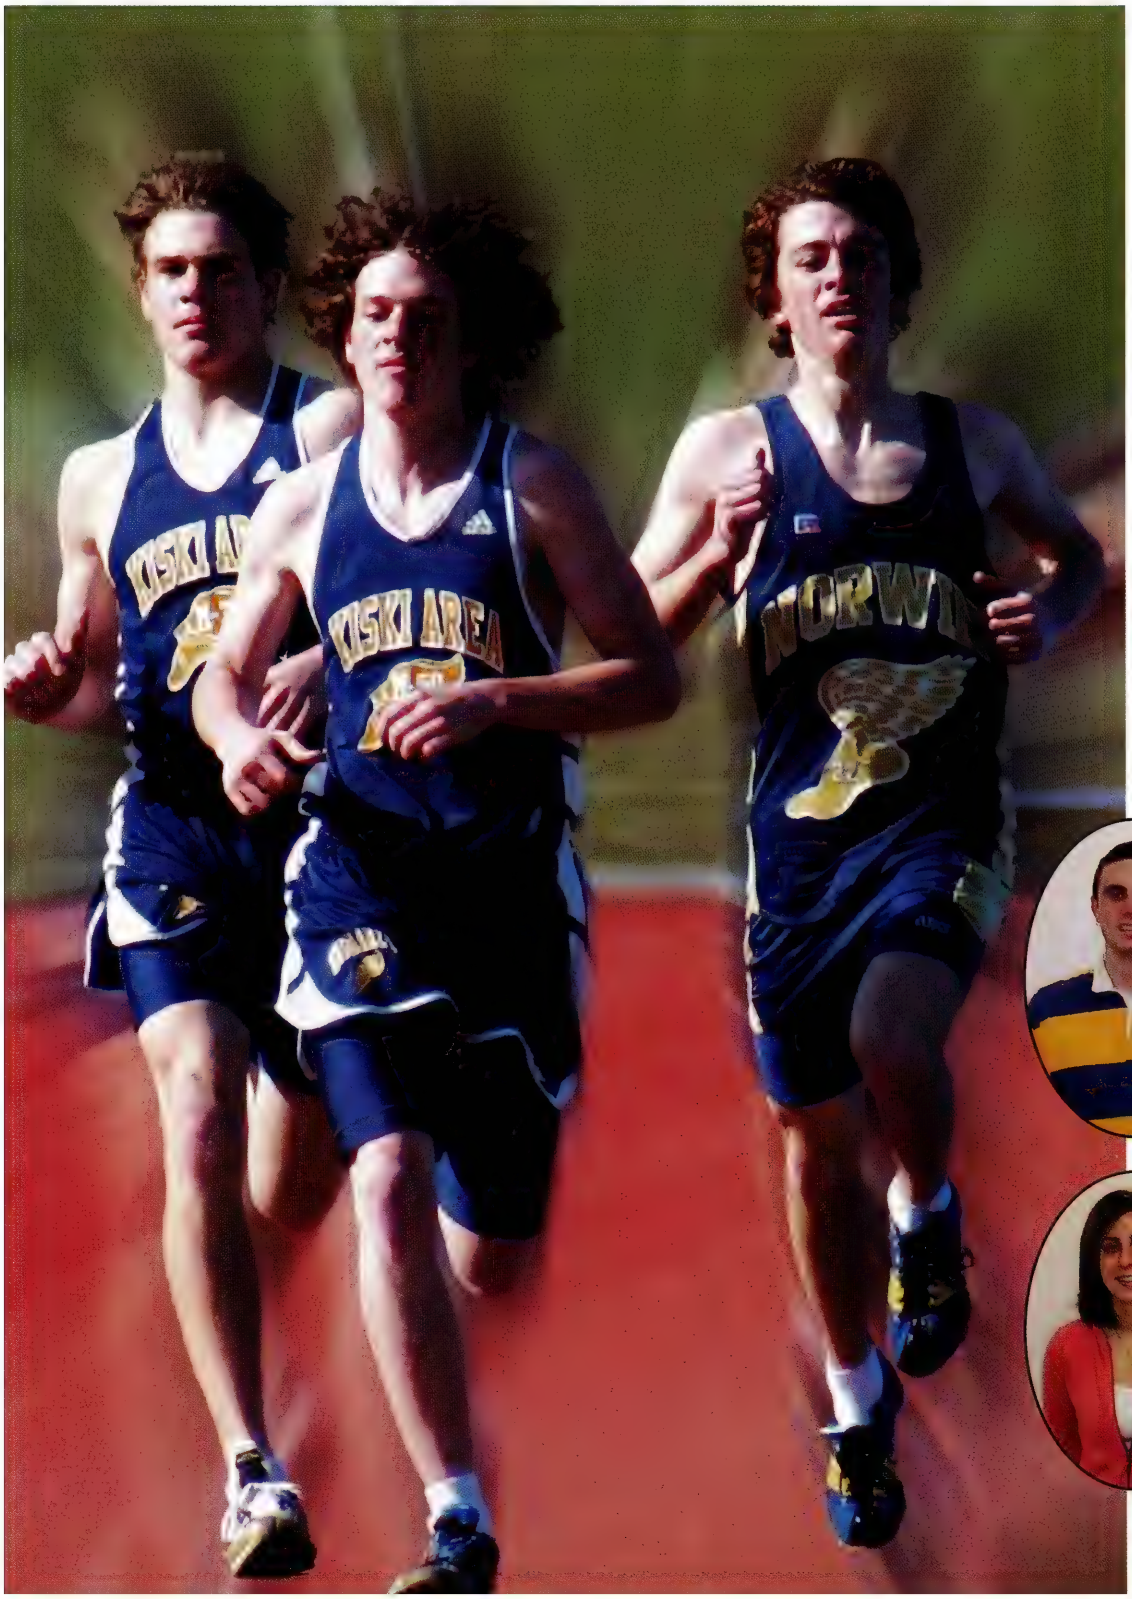
All-Star Athletes Continue Kiski Dominance



Just a little farther.
Patrick Arabia and Scott Learn battle against a Norwin opponent. When asked about track, "I really liked the coach, his strategies were intense and pumped us up for competitions," said Pat. Pat also belonged to Dodgeball Club and Chess Club.

In recent years Olympic track and field events have become more recognized and talked about. Has this added more ambition to the team members?

"Definitely, because they got more publicity for the events and more people knew about them."
Alex Bue

"Yes, it brought more glory to the sport."
Nicole Arick

One may have wondered what the Kiski Area trainers did besides the obvious tasks of filling water bottles and bagging ice. Unbeknownst to most students, the trainers had extreme responsibility and played a very important role in keeping Kiski athletes healthy. Under the supervision of head trainers Donna Rife and Lisa Anderson, the eleven trainers learned how to bandage cuts and treat sprains and pulled muscles. They have put in a lot of hard work and time this year right alongside the athletes. Each trainer spent three eight hour days at UPMC attending a workshop to prepare for this year. While there, they learned basic and detailed taping skills and became certified in first aid, CPR, and AED. The trainer position also required a substantial amount of time taken out of summer, school and weekends; time which few would ever wish to relinquish.

When asked about what she regarded as the highlights of the trainer's job, junior Carrie Mazurek said, "The best part of it was feeling the responsibility placed on me and knowing that I could handle it. The friendships and amazing bonds I formed with the people I was constantly around were spectacular perks to the job as well." Trainers like Carrie may have decided to take the job so they could explore the fields of becoming physical therapists, nurses or doctors. After all, who knows what or where this job could lead. Today, a high school athletic trainer could have taped a mildly twisted ankle. Tomorrow, that same trainer could work with Ben Roethlisberger in rehab for an all-pro shoulder. The possibilities of what a Kiski Area trainer could do with his or her life seem endless thanks to the medical background training provided.

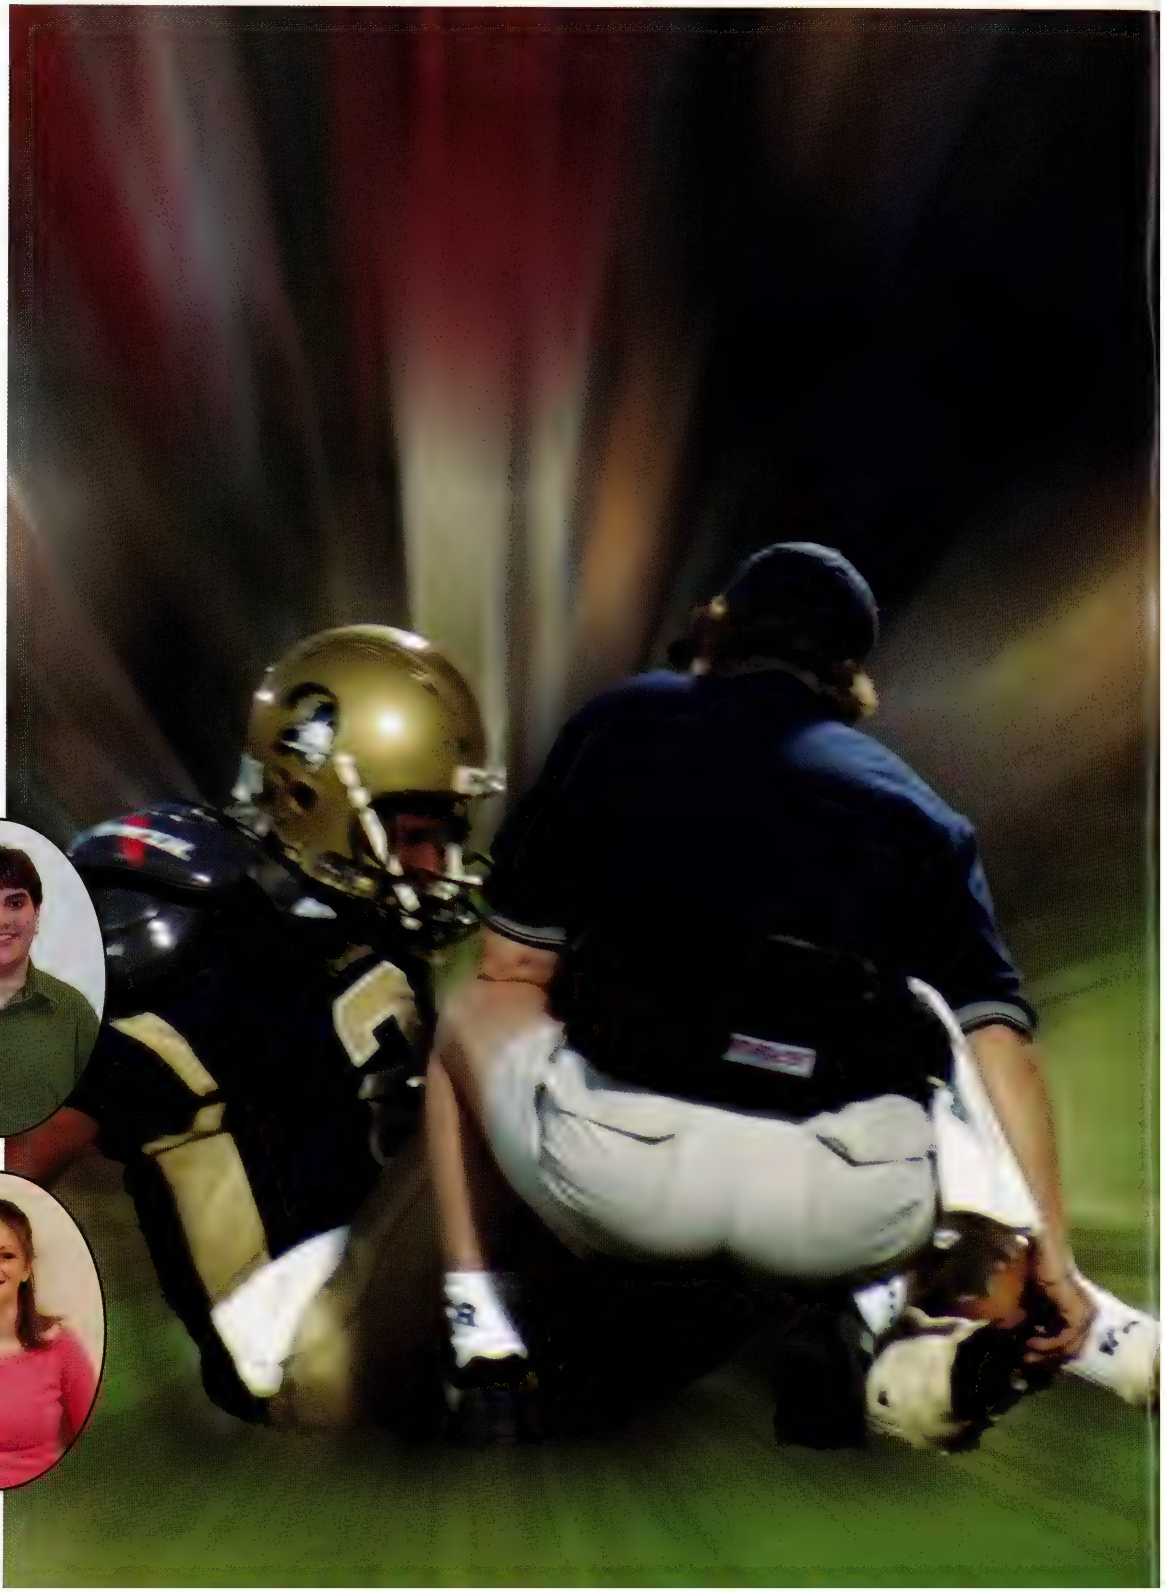
Hardy Healers Help Ease Pain



Pain of winning. Donna Rife examines the ankle of Mychal Skinner during the Fox Chapel game. "Mychal returned to play only two weeks later," said Donna. Donna has served the district as trainer for sixteen years.

As of late, a media firestorm surrounded minor injuries of professional athletes. Do you believe that made what you did that much more vital?

"In televised sports an athlete couldn't go around injured due to possible complications. So, we were definitely appreciated more." Terrence Despotakis

"Yes, I believed it. I did it because I enjoyed helping people." Allyson Humphrey

Rupestock 05 Razzle Dazzles

In the heat of the summer at the infamous show choir camp in July, Mrs. Rupert asked the performers in Kaleidoscope what they wanted to name the show. Out of ideas, the room filled with silence, until a faint title surfaced: "Rupestock '05." The choir latched onto this name and would not settle for a replacement. Reluctantly, Mrs. Rupert gave in and permitted her name to serve as the title of Kaleidoscope's show. When introducing the dance group at various local performances, she laughed and said, "The kids picked the name, not me." Although the other show choir, the newly renamed Take One, chose "Razzle Dazzle" as their program's name, the ensemble certainly loved Mrs. Rupert all the same.

Both performance groups danced and sang throughout the community during the holiday season, bringing exciting entertainment to crowds at churches, community buildings, and even the Leechburg K-Mart, to help with the annual Telethon. Receiving applause and never ceasing to please, Kaleidoscope and Take One prepared an astounding range of dance moves, vocal arrangements, and performance styles.

Kaleidoscope's show consisted of songs from musicals such as West Side Story and Hairspray to pop numbers by Billy Joel. Take One, on the other hand, performed such songs as "All That Jazz" from the musical Chicago (which inspired their theme of Razzle Dazzle) and a song from the musical Thoroughly Modern Millie.

The girls of Take One donned new dresses for performances and adorned a trio of different hats to spice up a few of their pieces. From the middle weeks of summer at show choir camp to the spring, getting prepared for their competition in Toronto, both superb show choirs did well and wowed audiences wherever they performed.

MARCHING BAND

As Jenison High exited the field of Youngstown State University Stadium, avid KA fans watched their beloved marching band take the field. The sweet melody of the sincerely missed Toccata truly set the stage for greatness. Drum Major Jeff Shuster gave his salute and the show fell into place as Kiski's presentation of "Incantations" came to life. The Cavaliers set the standard for the entire nation on October 2, 2004, earning an unbelievable score of 94.25 extremely early in the season.

A week later, the nation's best still fell short of Kiski's outstanding score. Amazingly, Kiski held the highest score in the country for Bands of America competitions two weeks in a row. Monopolizing Internet threads on the BOA Forums Network, members of bands across the nation breathed a sigh of relief when learning that the 2004 Kiski Band would not attend nationals. Still, with their Egyptian-flavored show, how would Kiski have faired in the dome on a non-nationals year? On the subject, music expert Principal Foster said, "Considering the difficulty, the design, and the delivery of the show, I was confident that the band would have found great success in Indianapolis, especially with such a young group." While the Cavaliers never played "Incantations" in the dome, those who experienced the show closer to home recognized its quality. Fans could only wonder what the band would bring in 2005.

Favorite Shawn Pityk Moment

- Lauren Palitti

"Mr. Pityk would stop us, especially the trumpets, and stare at us like he was hit with a rock. He then proceeded to tell us that we sounded like...baby butt."

iece by Piece...Staffs Unveiled

One may not consider all the effort put into the creation of the yearbook while leisurely thumbing through it. The yearbook staff brought together the high points of the school year memory by memory, and each individual staff performed tedious tasks to complete the book.

The business staff catered to forgetful teenagers when they needed personal payment schedules. Often without any acknowledgement, the staff went out of their way to deal with each student. In addition, everyone who bought a book became part of the highly accurate records painstakingly kept by the staff, receipt by receipt.

In a continual effort to include the maximum number of pupils in the pages, reporting staff spoke to students from every club, sport and musical ensemble. Also, every photo in the book had a caption containing a quote which reporting gathered, picture by picture.

As for the pictures themselves, each involved the phenomenal camerawork of the photography staff. Photography attended pretty much every event one could think of with the word "Kiski" in the title. "It was great to get into events for free," said Mary Mangus. Time after time they attained meritorious photos, shot by shot.

Every story in the book included an interesting angle about its topic group found by the literary staff. Proofreading became another focal point of the staff. "The only purpose of a lit editor was to insert the minor details that an under-staffer may have forgotten, such as punctuation or a story," said Pat Kessler. Thanks to the literary staff, the book, corrected error by error, attained perfection.

Finally, effect by effect, the technology staff of one, Steve Lucas, known more affectionately as "Neppets" among friends, brought the pictures to life. Implementing unprecedented effects on brilliantly designed layouts, Steve truly raised the book to once again rank among the best in the nation.

One could clearly see that it required many hours and a great deal of patience to produce a quality yearbook. Still, with little recognition, every staff performed its duty and produced a work of art, piece by piece.

- Jennifer Beresky

Campus Masters

Editors of the Year...

Piece by Piece, this book came to life. Reflecting the efforts of 13 editors and an under-staff of nearly 30 students, the 2005 Campus stands an exemplary model for other schools across the nation to follow. Still, in my opinion, two editors contributed a bit more than the others. Hence, I chose Robert George and Jennifer Beresky as the 2005 Editors of the Year.

Author Minor White once wrote, "No matter how slow the film, Spirit always stands still for the photographer it has chosen." I had to thank the Spirits for choosing Robert George. As an instructor of various yearbook workshops in Pennsylvania and neighboring states, I gained an appreciation for what other schools across the nation could offer. In my opinion, Bob's pictures ranked among the finest in the entire United States of America for yearbook creation. His ability to capture emotion, time shots, and differentiate perspective far surpassed my expectations. Thank you, Bob, for your expertise and desire to capture every Kiski moment on film. Incidentally, with the exception of the senior pictures and underclass shots, Bob shot nearly 95% of all pictures that appeared in this publication.

English author Beryl Markham once wrote, "If a man has any greatness in him, it comes to light, not in one flamboyant hour, but in the ledger of his daily work." Reflecting that notion, I offer that no other editor gave more, day-to-day, than Jennifer Beresky. Known in the YBR as the "Shining Star," Jen radiantly lit the 2005 Campus with thought provoking questions, each designed to give students the opportunity to voice personal opinions. In addition to her reporting responsibilities, Jen took pictures, wrote stories, and collected payments. Still, I chose Jen as Editor of the Year for greater reasons. I respected her devotion to the student body, I admired her commitment to uniqueness, and I reveled in her unprecedented character. Thanks Jen for bringing your "greatness" to light each and every day, and not just in the crunch of deadlines.

Finally, thank you seniors Bethany, Sami, Shay, Amber, and Alissa. I certainly could not forget your loyal contributions. The final product stood as a direct reflection of your efforts. Congratulations everyone for producing a book that yearbook staffs across the nation will admire, covet and soon emulate. Bravo . . simply Bravo.

Mock Trial Team Found Guilty of Success

To the majority of the high school, Mock Trial appeared as an enigma; the student body knew very little about what this skilled team did in their hours and hours of practice. Little did people realize the members of Kiski Area Mock Trial team prepared a court case each year and competed with other schools at the Westmoreland County Courthouse in lawyer and witness roles. The 2004-2005 season proved to become no exception to the tradition of legal excellence at Kiski Area.

Unlike other seasons, though, the team competed in the University of Pittsburgh's first annual Mock Trial competition. Usually the students would only compete in the statewide competition, but this new tournament gave them an opportunity to practice with other teams. Eighteen schools competed against each other for the highest scores, and Kiski received a close third place. About the competition, third-year Mock Trial member Steven Keslar said, "It was a complete success for us because it gave us more courtroom experience, boosted our confidence, and gave us a chance to see other teams' methods of confronting the case."

Weeks later, the team performed in court against Belle Vernon and Greensburg Salem, a sworn rival of Kiski Area team. Although hard work and tireless revising saturated the sometimes over-scheduled lives of team members, the group enjoyed itself every step of the way. Mock Trial president Jennifer Beresky said of the experience, "Mock Trial has truly been the most rewarding activity I've participated in high school. It has prepared me for debates and speeches, and hopefully for law school." Certainly, the success of the Kiski Area Mock Trial team continued with yet another stellar season.

Key

It doesn't matter if you win or lose...until you lose.

Key Club Lends Helping Hands

Comprised of 80 students, including some of the most outstanding sophomores, juniors and seniors, the Kiski Area Key Club has risen to become one of the top clubs not only in the high school, but in the state of Pennsylvania as well. Over the year, the incredible students amassed thousands of hours of community service while juggling academics and plenty of other sports and extracurricular activities.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Dianne Haney and direction of an incredible group of officers, the Key Club benefited many organizations during the 2004-2005 school year, including UNICEF, IDD, Relay for Life, Boys and Girls Clubs of America, Habitat for Humanity and more. The club also held the 3rd Annual Kiski Area Key Club Talent Show and the yearly Student vs. Faculty Basketball Game.

Key Club not only helped many charities, but also benefited the members. When asked how Key Club affected her since she joined, junior Kelsey Benzenhoefer said, "Key Club has given me a chance to make good use of my time by helping people around me and it was fun because I could do it while hanging out with my friends that were also in the club." This student-led organization showed amazing growth through the year and can only become stronger to help everybody in the school and community.

~ Dan Aiello

Key players...

Samantha Stonebraker, Jenna Pounds and Alyssa Bruno prepare for the Homecoming Parade. When asked about helping with Key Club Jenna said, "Making signs and walking through Vandergrift was fun." Though Jenna did not technically belong to Key club, she liked helping her sister, senior Bethany Pounds.

Kiski saw many changes in the 2004-2005 school year. The football team played at a newly renovated Davis Field and the basketball, wrestling and volleyball teams held their competitions in a brand-new gym. All the sports benefited from the state-of-the-art facilities, instilling a new sense of pride at Kiski Area.

The Pride Club spearheaded this new sense of school spirit. "We really felt proud about the school with all the new renovations. I think it even sometimes affected the way some athletes competed," said senior and Pride Club President Haley Gearhart.

The club organized activities to show the strong sense of spirit and unity at Kiski. The biggest event that the Pride Club sponsored remained, as always, the bonfire and car-smashing which got the blood pumping for the football team and their fans. Students attended this bonfire in the fall sports' season in order to support the football team. The attendants paid one dollar in exchange for a smash at an old, donated car. Music and refreshments also brightened the spirits of the many students that huddled around the fire and watched the demolition of the car.

The Pride Club also organized various other projects around the school in order to raise spirit. They made signs for athletic events and attempted to create a powder-puff football team. Certainly, the organization brought as much new life to the school as did the renovations.

German Club Reflects Its History

Although the new school year seemed to focus on many new additions to Kiski Area High School, the past still remained intact. Students looked back at fonder memories and continued to have interest and participate in a club that started over 30 years ago. The club itself seemed to have as much history as the country it pertained to. German club started approximately 34 years ago with about 105 members and it remained about the same size in the 2004-2005 school year. Most of these students joined by having taken German class or by formerly taking German class and actively willing to participate in the fundraisers. Long-time German teacher, Mr. Pipkins, sponsored the club from the very beginning.

The club continued to stay active during the year by adding several candy and hoagie fundraisers as well as a bake sale, in an effort to make money for their annual trip to Cedar Point in June. President Shaily Jeffers headed most of the planning and meetings, along with Vice Presidents, Collin Brady and Luke Mohammed, Secretary Jenna Gardone, and Treasurer Emily Mann. With Shaily in charge, the five officers took over and conducted the meetings with the close watch of Mr. Pipkins.

When asked what she enjoyed most about the club, Shaily said, "I enjoyed leaving class to go over the new fundraiser materials that came in." Certainly, the club remained active and carried on a longtime Cavalier tradition.

Pawn Turns into King of Clubs

During the 2003-2004 school year, Kiski Area's already vast array of clubs expanded with the creation of the organization now known and loved as the Chess Club. One might have heard of such a group and automatically recalled images of Screech Powers (Saved by the Bell) and Arnold Horseshack (Welcome Back, Kotter.) However, quite the opposite happened at the high school.

The Chess Club originated thanks to a few members of the 2005 senior class who simply wanted something to do during the activity periods. The idea came to then junior Dan Hess while he sat in homeroom under the supervision of Ms. Tricia Shank who agreed to become the club sponsor. When asked why he wanted to start chess club Dan said, "It was a great way to do something productive, yet fun, and hang out with your friends during the activity periods."

Eventually the club caught on throughout the entire grade and it became one of the most popular clubs in school history. To spread the word, Chess Club held the first ever Student vs. Faculty Dodgeball Game, which not only sold out but produced some money for the club to replace any old or defective chess pieces and boards and to buy more chess related items. Thanks to a creative student and a willing sponsor, the love of chess can continue to grow at Kiski and end up passed down, class by class.

Good Morning Kiski Winterguard

Quick Glance

Toss by toss, girls enrolled in the Winterguard program aspired to produce an indoor presentation of art in motion. As an extension of the marching program, those proficient in manipulating rifles, swords, and flags could partake in a colorful and musical experience in gymnasiums across the nation. Incorporating Mozart, Winterguard members presented a classy classical offering.

Students in each homeroom relied on the crew of Good Morning Kiski to unveil the day's events. Message by message, GMK anchors flooded the airways with pertinent information. From lunch menus to recaps of sporting events, the competent members of GMK delivered the news. Certainly, students stood well informed and confidently able to conquer each day.

NHS Character Shines Through

The Kiski Area National Honor Society consistently exemplified the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, character and knowledge. Led by English Department Head Dr. Millie Pipman, these teens ranked among the best and brightest Kiski could offer. The 2004-2005 officers included Matt Boland, Jeffrey Shuster, Ashley Woolheater, Wesley Kendle and Ryan Burns as President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer and Historian respectively. Confidently, these five students upheld the honor code and set the standard for the rest of the members. They also coordinated various service projects and events that the club sponsored.

Service projects that members participated in included volunteering for Meals on Wheels and at the Saint James Food Bank. Each Tuesday four students drove to the Greek Orthodox Church in Vandergrift, picked up seven meals and delivered them to the necessary recipients. Secretary Ashley Woolheater composed a rotating schedule for Meals on Wheels as well as for the Food Bank and also held the responsibility of giving NHS members the necessary field trip forms. Once a month, five students drove to Saint James Church in Apollo to aid in handing out items to those in need. Whether on campus or in the community, members of the National Honor Society always displayed an extraordinary dedication to service.

Ms. Cramer passes a ball to Mr. Lohr during the NHS Student vs. Faculty volleyball game. Early in the year, NHS held the game as a fundraiser. Contrary to much trash talk, the students won by a large margin.

In their inaugural season, the Kiski Area Dodgeball Club rocked the gym every odd-week club period. Dodgeball became very popular among students because gym classes greatly embraced the sport. The madness began when Ms. Cramer and her first period English class decided to think of a new and interesting club. Just a few weeks later, over 50 seniors gathered in the new gym for their first meeting.

These meetings embodied the fun nature of the game, while also sticking to the rules. Regulation dodgeball rules applied at all meetings of Dodgeball Club. Under these guidelines, all the balls began in the middle of the court. When the whistle blew, both teams ran at full blast for the balls. As soon as someone had possession of a ball, the game began. When asked what came next, senior Jacque Moser said, "Then you just smacked heads with the balls." These games intensified because everyone in the club had a competitive attitude about the sport. Pat McDermott said, "If you weren't paying attention, you could get lit up."

Dodgeball Club kicked off with an exciting first year in 2004-2005. The club prided itself in fun and providing fierce competition. Not only did this show all signs of a successful idea, but there remained much hope that it would become a new tradition for future generations of dodgeball fanatics.

Ski

No Business Like Snow Business

When asked about the best moment in Ski Club, junior Melisa Sharek said, "I had the most fun when I took off my skis and slid down Goosebumps on my butt." Her quote exemplified the experience of many members of the Ski Club who went to relax and have a good time. While some well-weathered skiers glided effortlessly down the slopes, others remained thankful to make it through a trip without a visit from Ski Patrol.

For seven Thursdays in the winter months, two coach buses left the school parking lot and headed for Seven Springs. Anxious skiers and snowboarders changed into their always fashionable ski attire and hit the slopes as soon as possible. These winter athletes raced down the mountain and enjoyed every moment in the land of powder.

Not all the trips down the mountain turned out so peacefully. As senior Teresa Cacco said, "One day when there was excessive powder, a group of us was skiing down Avalanche, when all of a sudden Bethany disappeared into a cloud of white. Her outspread arms and legs crashed to the ground in a heap. Her skis fell off and at first I thought she had blacked out, but she ended up only having minor injuries." Learning to ski also remained a challenging task for the first-timers. While attempting to teach a friend how to ski, Melisa Sharek instructed her friend to follow her lead. Two seconds later, Melisa herself landed in the fresh snow and her friend promptly joined her.

Senior Marissa Smay said her most memorable experience "was when Teresa Cacco realized on the ski lift that she had forgotten to put her lift ticket on her jacket. In an attempt to put the pass on her jacket, the ticket fell to the ground and we watched it blow away as we continued up the mountain. We skied back down as quickly as we could and much to Teresa's relief, we found the lift ticket stuck in the snow." No matter their skill level, experience or ability, all the Ski Club members had another enjoyable season in the winter wonderland at Seven Springs Resort.

Armed with knowledge and ambition, members of SADD aimed to raise awareness of the disastrous consequences of combining alcohol and automobiles. Individual by individual, participants did their best to save lives. SADD functions culminated in the Prom Promise campaign where students pledged not to drink and drive.

From pencils to pants and from gum to gym suits, servers in the Student Store met the demands of a needy student body. Sale by sale, customers found the necessary supplies to finish each day successfully. Open during activity periods, in the morning, and throughout the lunch periods, clerks offered a smile with each purchase.

Political Parties Unite

During a Gifted History meeting late in the 2003-2004 school year, Stephen Lucas and Leah VanDenHeuvel, then sophomores, approached Mr. Snedecor with a proposal to form a new club. "We wanted to try to educate the student body and register eligible voters," Leah said. Steve agreed; "we saw a void of political awareness in the student body... we found no really political or history-related groups in the school," he said. Consequently, with Mr. Snedecor's backing, The Politicos originated. "We were a non-partisan organization," Mr. Snedecor said, "trying to educate students about politics, get them involved and provide them with direction." With the election of November 2004 to look forward to, the trio got right to work recruiting members and organizing registration drives for Freedom's Answer all over the area.

"I felt happily surprised by how many students joined the group," said Mr. Snedecor, who had worried about whether they would have a large enough group to cover the big election during their first year. In fact, the response became overwhelming and The Politicos managed to organize several voting pledge drives, a bake sale and assistance at the poll booths. For the rest of this year, The Politicos planned to work on developing a club constitution, finding guest speakers involved in American politics, and concentrating more on the platforms of the individual parties.

Future Business Leaders of America remained one of the few clubs that prepared high school students for the real world after graduation. Lesson by lesson, students learned various business concepts that applied to the business arena. Members competed in events such as public speaking, accounting, word processing and parliamentary procedures.

Book by book, the Library Aides kept library functions running as smoothly as possible. The avid crew assisted students in researching topics, locating books and also checking out publications. Members also continually kept all magazines and newspapers as current as possible. Their efforts made the sometimes tedious researching process a bit more enjoyable.

Gaming

In fall of 2004, Ms. McCullough's third period Chemistry class suggested she act on her love of classic video games. She responded by forming what many have praised and critiqued as the most openly pointless activity in the history of Kiski Area High School. "It was just an idea we had in Chemistry class one day," said junior Bryan Kozak, vice president of the club, "We just wanted to play some old school video games in school."

Though the Retro Gaming Club originated secretively, an overwhelming response of about two hundred students crowded the halls to apply for membership. "It was absolutely unmanageable," said junior Heather Talmage, club president. After going through the applications and cutting members until only forty remained, the club began collecting televisions and old video game consoles. "We've got Segas, NESs, SNESs, Ataris (my favorite)... We're having some technological trouble right now with getting the older systems to work, but it all came together," said Ms. McCullough.

To fund their collection, the Retro Gaming Club sponsored two activities during the Telethon week of 2004: a Dance Dance Revolution tournament and a Madden 2005 tournament. "The DDR Tournament was off the hook," said junior Russell Kiro, club chairman, "It wasn't a great turnout, but it was a lot of fun. Alex Rudy really worked to win it." The club celebrated Halloween with a dress-up party in which junior Robert Vita, dressed as a "dark elf" with a grudge against the vertically challenged, bit junior Mario Ciccone on the forearm. Asked about plans for the future, Mario said, "We planned to spread our ways and thoughts to the masses. Did that sound majestic? Really, we just wanted to play video games!"

For certain, the club Council did not tolerate cheating. "Cheaters were pieces of trash," said Kiro, "they should have been burned at the stake, the pansies." "Cheaters were a disappointment to the gaming world," Talmage said. "It was just disgraceful," said Kozak.

The Retro Gaming Club pledged to have a great time, wherever the future brought them. As junior Stephen Cup said, "Hugbees! Because we just liked to say Hugbees!"

Our "princess," more precious now than ever before.

Proud parents we are, that's for sure.

You have grown so beautiful, both inside and out.

This you should never doubt.

Challenges you have had to face,

Have been done with so much grace.

Our love and support continues on,

As you embark on the journey to college and beyond.

We Love You,

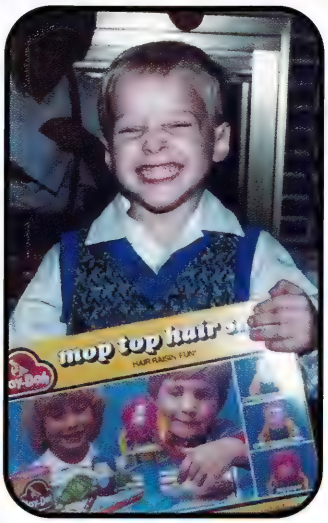
Mom and Dad

Dear Boo ~

We've waited a long time for your graduation. We are very proud of you and the young woman you are becoming. Remember always who you are. Remember where you came from and who was there for you. And to thine own self be true.

I'll love you forever,
I'll like you for always.
As long as I'm living,
My baby you'll be.

Love,
Mommy, Randy,
and Chance



Hallelujah!

You finally made it!!

Love Dad, Gwenn, Natalie and Denny

Lindsey,

May your future be filled with happiness, success, and many, many grand surprises...

Love Always,

Dad, Mom,
Tori, Joey,
Gram and Pap

Dear Matthew,

To our "drummer" boy! You are such a joy to us. May the good Lord richly bless you with happiness and success, and may He also guide you in the right direction.

Best Wishes
Matthew...

We love you a lot.

Mom, Tom,
Natalie and Austin

Mandy Kowalski,

You are our "cutey pitutey"

We are so proud of all of your accomplishments. There is nothing you can't do when you set your goals. Continue on this path for the rest of your education and great things are waiting for you in the future.

We love you to pieces!!

Congratulations on your graduation.

Love Dad, Mom and Sissy

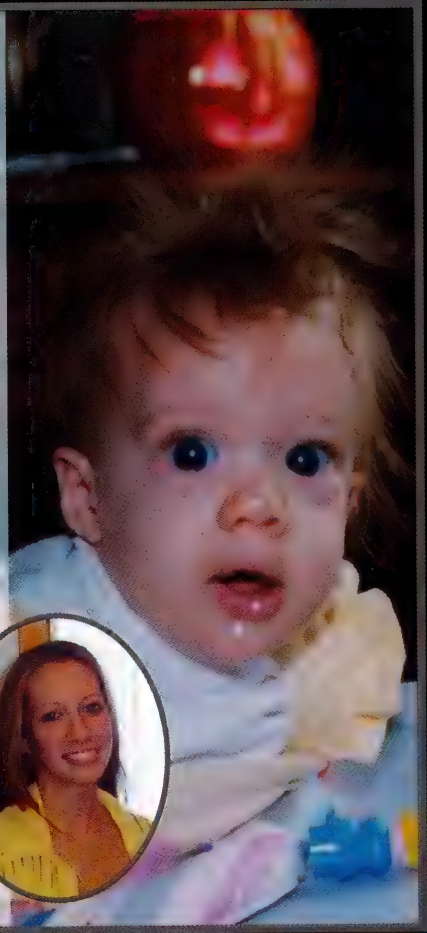
You have grown into a beautiful caring young lady with a gentle heart that shines through your love of animals. Your hard work will continue to bring you success in life...Reach high...Study hard...and follow your dreams. We are truly blessed to have you as our daughter. We love you sweetie!

Mom, Dad, and Jordan

Brittany

It seems like yesterday you were our little princess. You've grown in so many ways - especially into a beautiful young woman. Continue to follow your dreams! We are always here for you.

We love you!
Mom, Dad, Robbie, Bryan & Nathan



You're the last of the Weavers to graduate. It's just unbelievable how fast time goes by.

Shawn, I want to tell you how proud of you we are. I know at times it was rough, but you never gave up! Life itself can be tough, but live life and enjoy life.

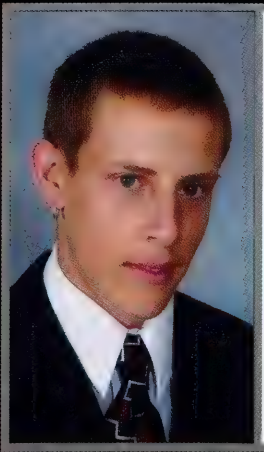
Live life for today, tomorrow, and for your future. You have such a talent in your music. Play it, sing it, let the music live on...and believe in yourself.

Shawn Ryan

You've turned into such a wonderful and handsome young man. Always know we are here for you. Listen to the song in your heart!

What we are today comes from our thoughts of yesterday, and our present thoughts build our lives of tomorrow. Our lives are the creation of our minds.

Love you,
Mom, Dad, Natalie, Krista and Ashley. Smile!



Nickolas

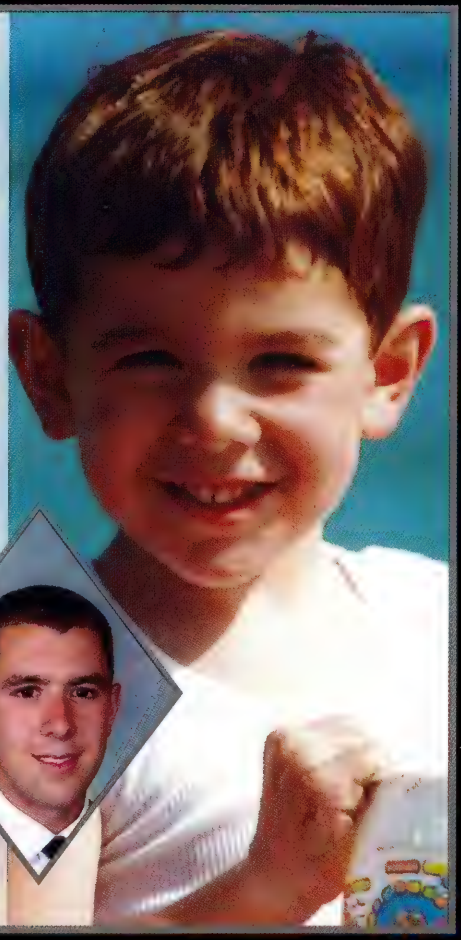
Believe in yourself. Remember last summer? You won the Chrysler Classic Street Class at Pittsburgh Raceway Park. The family tradition continues. You can be a winner at whatever you choose to do. We're here for you!
Love Mom, Dad and Kara Jo

Adam...

From the day you were born you brought love, joy and laughter into our lives. We are so proud of the young man you have become. We know that you will accomplish anything you set out to do. We will always be here for you!!!

Congratulations and Good Luck...

We Love You... Mom and Dad



Amber

Kelvin

We are proud to be your parents. More importantly, we are happy to be your friends.

All our Love, Mom and Dad

Christin

To our wonderful daughter. We are so proud of you!

We love you...

Mom and Dad

"Make Good Choices"

Ryan,

We Love You,
Mom, Dad, Corey, Brandon & Grandma

This time in your life has come much too quickly. We are going to miss your being here with us, but we know you are looking forward to your time in college. We have always been proud of you. Not only have you always been a good student, but more importantly, you have always been a good person. Your future will be bright, for that is how you will make it.

Erik,

From Kindergarten to Your Senior Year

AND IN EVERYTHING BETWEEN

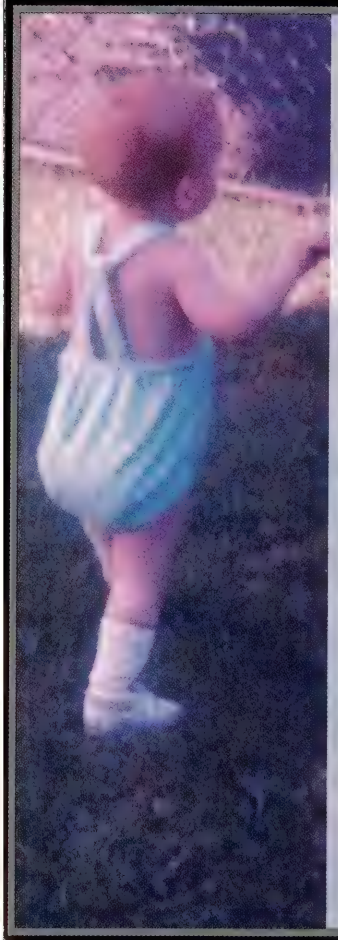
Thanks for the Memories...

Love Mom, Dad and Brandie

Sarah Lee,

Life will take you down many paths ~ each one different. Learn from your experiences and make the best of each one.
We are so proud of you!

Love, Mom, Dad & Chelsea



Jason ~

From your first steps to your senior year in high school, you have always been a joy to behold! You have such good values and morals. We know you will be a success in whatever path you choose. It has been our sincere pleasure to help you grow into the young man you are today. We will always be there for you if you ever need us. The world is waiting for you, Jason. Enjoy!

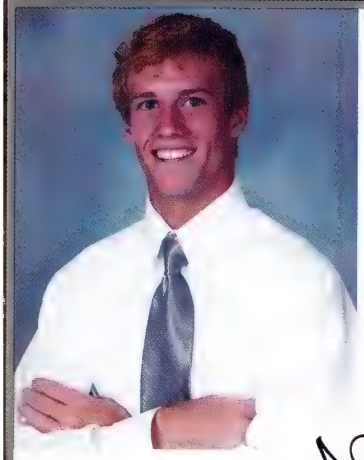
Love,

Mom
and
Dad

When you were born, you were the best baby. When you became a toddler, you were a wonderful child. And now, as a teenager, you are a beautiful adult. We have always been proud of you. We know in our hearts that you will go far in life.

Our Love Always,
Mom and Dad
XXOOXO

Nicole,



It's been such a joy watching you grow into the responsible, hard-working, young man that you are today. We are very proud of all you have accomplished.

Mark,

May you find happiness and be successful in all you do. Congratulations, and may God Bless you always!

Love, Mom,
Dad & Eric

You have so many gifts to share. Your sense of humor, determination, and generous spirit will lead you to success. Keep smiling and hugging! We are so proud of you.

Love, Mom, Dad
and Jeremy

Jessica ~

Dear Tina,

My, how the years have gone by so quickly. Our little girl has grown into a beautiful young lady. We wish you all the best as your life's journey begins. God Bless - Love,

Mom, Dad, Cory & Falyn

Congratulations Rudy,
We are so proud of you!

Love Always,

Mom, Dad
Lacey and Dana

Shane,

From a precious little boy to a handsome young man. We are so proud of your accomplishments. We admire your strength and self-confidence. May all of your dreams come true.

Love,
Mom, Dad,
Arian, and DJ

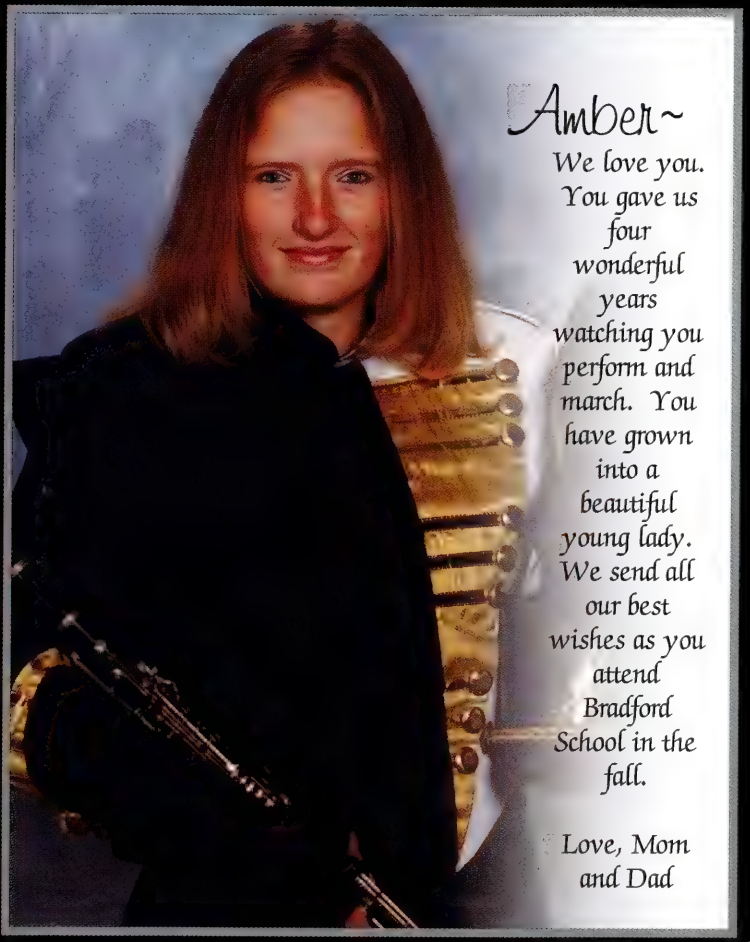
Tara,

It seems like just yesterday you were our little girl. You've grown into a beautiful young lady. Your future looks bright; you can do whatever you set your mind to. Just as there is no way to measure all of the happiness you have given us, there are no words to tell you how special you are and how much you are loved.
Love, Mom, Dad, Emily and Tyler

Bec,

We are so proud of you. You have grown into a beautiful person - inside and out.

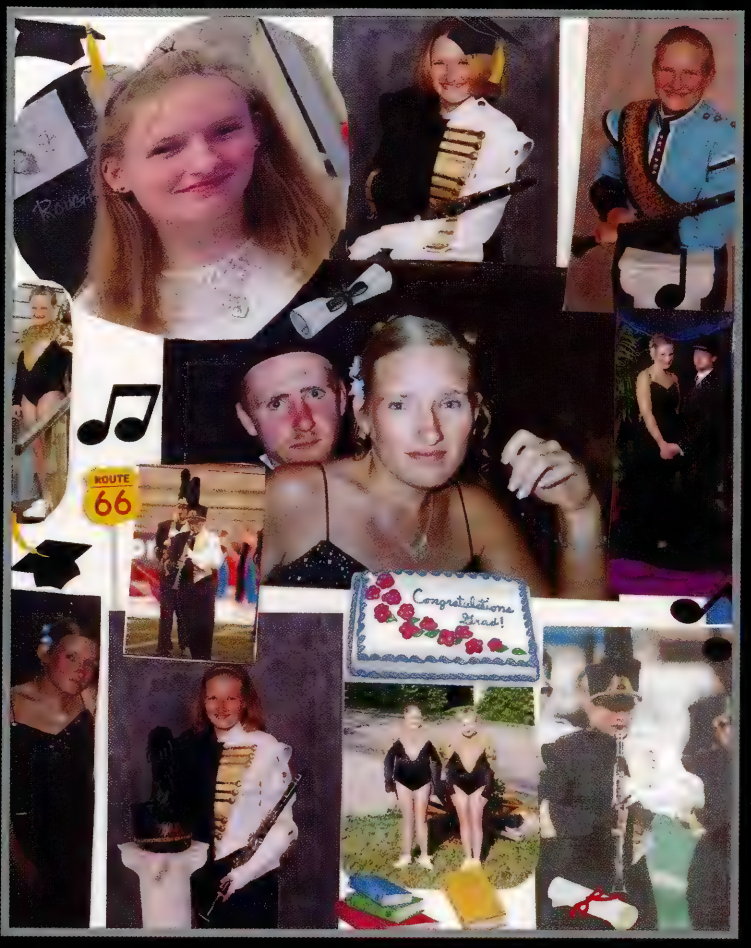
We wish you all the happiness you deserve.
All Our Love,
Dad, Mindy, Sean and Zach



Amber~

We love you. You gave us four wonderful years watching you perform and march. You have grown into a beautiful young lady. We send all our best wishes as you attend Bradford School in the fall.

Love, Mom and Dad



Dear Jenn,

Dad and I are very proud of you, honey. You have grown into a lovely young woman, both inside and out. It seems only yesterday you were taking baby steps and now graduation will soon be upon us. As you prepare to step into the future, please remember that Dad and I will always be here for you.

Good Luck at Clarion.
Love you Boo...Mom, Dad,
Liz, Maggie & Chloe

The days have gone by so quickly. It seems like just yesterday you were learning to crawl. Now you are walking into another phase of your life. We are so proud of you and what you have achieved. Although the road ahead may be a little unsure, we will always be there to hold your hand.

Allison

We love you Allison; we love the wonderful young woman you have become. We know your success will follow you ~ but remember wherever life takes you, you will always be our little girl! Congratulations!

Love Mom, Dad & Kaitlyn

Danielle,

Time has gone by so quickly. You have grown into a beautiful young woman and we are so very proud of you. We wish you success and happiness in all you choose to do in life. We know you will continue to succeed in whatever you do. Never give up on your dreams!
We love you!
Congratulations and Love,
Dad, Mom, Jason and Nicole

Allison,

You are so very special to us ~ Our 1st grandchild born August 10th (the same day as your mother's birthday.) What a beautiful Baby Girl!!! You are the sunshine of our lives.

We have watched you grow and have enjoyed your accomplishments. We will always remember the ice skating competitions (and all the medals you won,) your skiing, your tennis matches, and your music recitals. Oh - what a beautiful voice you have!!! You are our grandchild of many talents.

You are our link to our past and our reason for tomorrow. We will always cherish the happiness you have brought us.

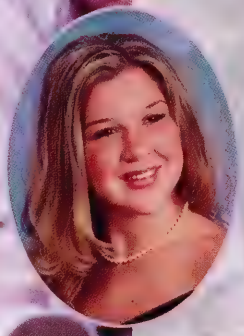
You are about to finish this phase of your life and begin a new phase. Remember, as God closes a door behind you, He opens a window for you.

Whatever you choose to do after high school graduation - study hard, do your very best - no one can ever borrow, buy, or steal from you the knowledge you have earned.

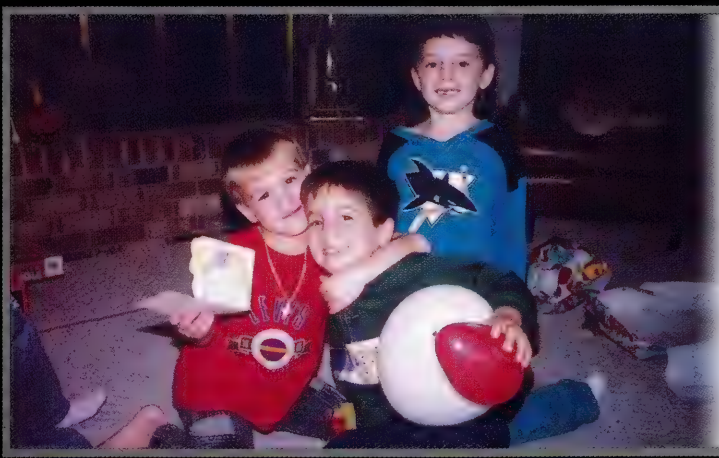
Always stay close to your family and keep your faith in God and life will reward you abundantly. We love you so very much.

Grandma & Pap Pap Nichols

We are so proud of your many accomplishments, from a competitive figure skater receiving a gold medal, a great tennis player, an accomplished vocalist who fills the air with the great sounds of music, and now a graduate! We know the best is yet to come. Looks like you made it!!



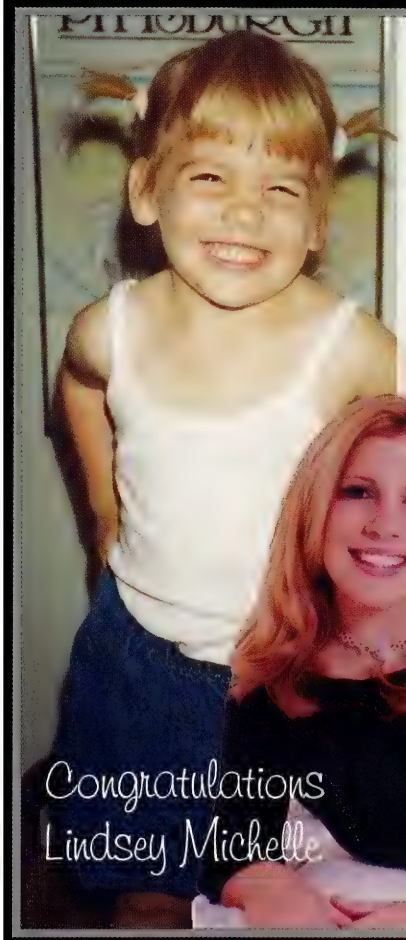
We love you!
Mom,
Dad,
Jonathan,
and
Kayla-Rose



Patrick, Brandon, and Adam

As we go on...We remember...All the times we had together...As our lives change...Come whatever..
We will still be friends forever.

May God Bless All of You Boys
Old Friends and New ~ Love, Frank & Linda Arabia



We are so proud of you. You have become a beautiful young lady, with a radiant smile that lights up our hearts. Keep smiling and always reach for the stars. You can do anything you want as long as you put your mind to it. Thanks for all the great memories during your basketball career. We wish you much success in all that you do in the years ahead.

"You go Gracie!"

Congratulations Lindsey Michelle

We love you, Mom, Dad, Lauren, Angelea and Nana

Danielle,

For our beautiful "LOOK AT ME" child. No longer that little girl, yet not quite the woman you'll be. Though you stopped insisting long ago, watching you has been a pleasure, and we couldn't have stopped if we tried.

Congratulations.

Love you,
Mom and Dad

Jonathan,

You'll always be an "All-Star" to us! We love you and wish you the best. Whatever the future holds, you will end up a winner.

Love,

Mom, Pap, Zachary and Derek

Joshua Atchison,

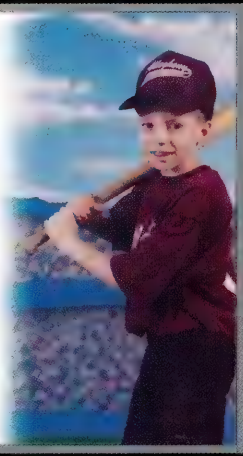
It seems like you just started school - and now here you are graduating. We know you will be the best you can be. We are so proud of you.

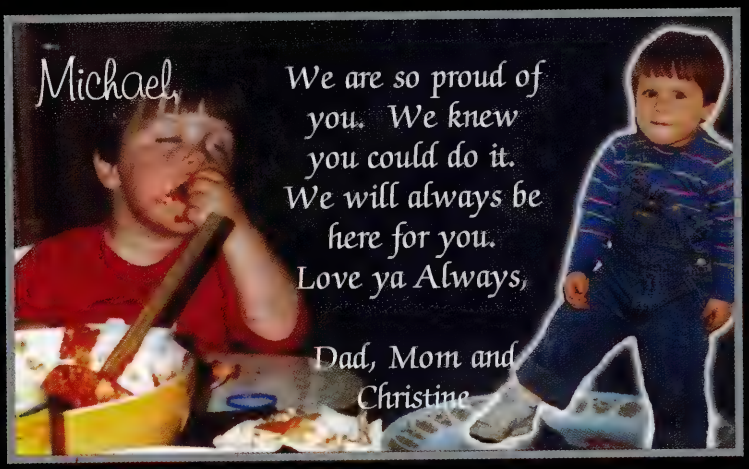
Love, Mom, Dad,
Jordan, Jenna and Jared

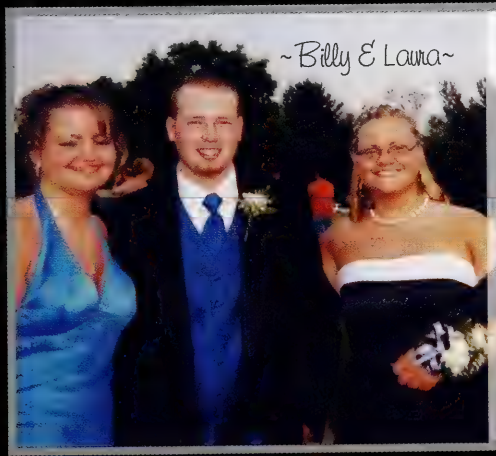
Adam,

You've been special from the start and life with you has been an adventure. Whether you're on the court, field or course, not only are you a great athlete, but you are a fine young man. You have given us some of the most exciting moments of our lives!

Your Biggest Fans ~
Love Always,
Mom, Dad and Ash







Billy & Laura~Good Luck in all you do. Laura~My sister, I love you more than anything. You will succeed and you will go far. Be Brave...the world is scary. I love you~Billy~my love. You are my best friend. You have taught me so much. Always look on the bright side as you always do. To the both of you~I am always here for you when the world is tough. We are the three musketeers. Dearest Sweet Pea...

Looking back over the years and watching you grow from the most precious little baby to a beautiful young woman has been a pleasure! We are so proud of you for all of your accomplishments and all of the values that you possess. You are so amazing that words just cannot express how our hearts are feeling. With a lot of hard work and perseverance, we know you can accomplish anything you put your mind to. This doesn't just mean in college, but in whatever life throws your way. Remember to always follow your dreams and don't settle for anything less than what you deserve! We love you so much and want to thank you for making us the most blessed parents ~ ever!!! (Oh, by the way...you'll always be our little Sweet Pea!) Love you always and forever! Mom and Dad

Marissa,

To our Rizzer - God gave us such joy upon your birth and now makes us extremely proud upon your graduation. These 17 years have flown by - bringing with them a beautiful intelligent young woman.

Follow your dreams into the future. You have always used good judgment in all things and we know you will continue to follow the same path thru life. May your goals become your accomplishments. We love you and are so proud to be your parents.

Love, Mom and Dad

No one could ask for a better or sweeter granddaughter than you. We may have missed seeing you grow from a newborn to a beautiful young lady, but we will be around to see what you have and will become. Love you!
Grammy and Pappy Gee

We are so proud of you! We hope that you succeed in all that you do and that all of your expectations in life come true! Love you!
Gram and Pap Miller

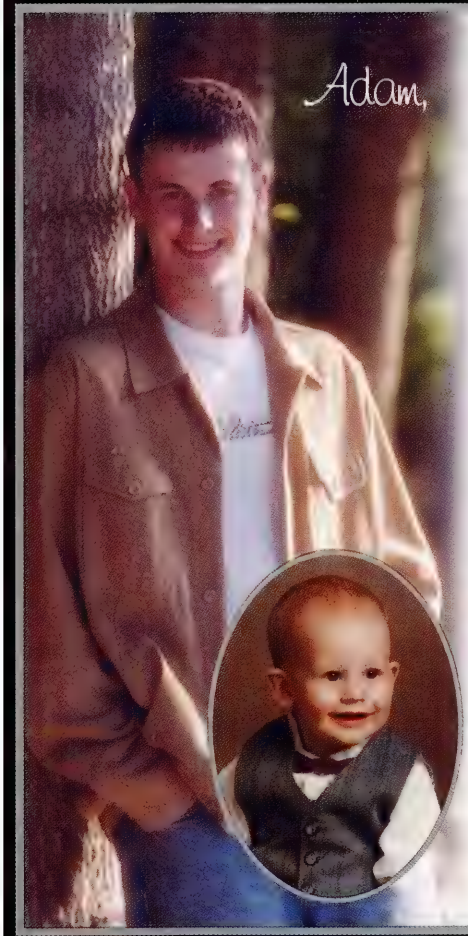
"Brain"

Congratulations! You've made it through life's toughest test. The world is a big place with a lot to see and do. Like this deep sea fishing photograph, you're man enough to handle anything that you may encounter. We are all very proud to have you as a son and brother. Good luck in the journey ahead! We love you always.
Mom, Dad, Tracy and Dan Tunack

Kevin John

You're a senior at last! Time has gone by too quickly. We are so very proud of the man you have become. You have a great personality and a huge heart.

You're the best son any parents could ask for. Stay focused on your goals, keep your priorities in order, and then reach for the stars. We love you Bubba.
Love, Dad & Momma



Adam,

You are a strong, intelligent, warm person and have a unique sense of humor. These special gifts will help you reach your goals. Always believe in yourself and you will achieve.

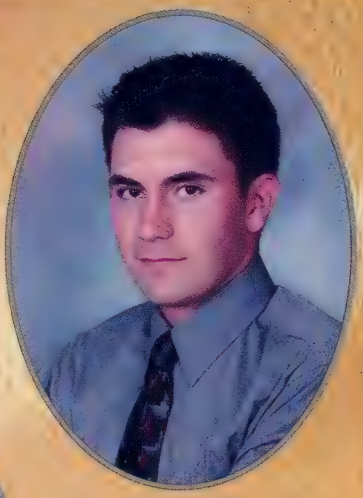
Love,
Mom and Dad

Brad,

The years have passed by so quickly. You are an incredible person and we are very proud of you. Believe in yourself and trust your good judgment.

Follow your heart and enjoy your individuality. May your dreams come true and may you dance through life. You have brightened our world and we wish you love and happiness.
Dad, Mom and Ethan

Dear Aaron,



I can't believe the years passed by so quickly and here you are ready to move on to much bigger things. We couldn't be more proud of you.

We are proud of who you have become and everything that you've accomplished. You have brought so much into our lives and we love you for that.

Love,
Mom and Dad

To our baby girls. Congratulations Amanda. Good Luck at IUP and Alicia, Good Luck at Western School. Remember to always reach for the stars.

Love, Mom, Dad, Gary, Angie, Bob, Maribeth, Jason, Faith & Nieces and Nephews

Robert George,

God has blessed us with a wonderful Grandson. It has been a pleasure seeing you grow into an amazing young man. God has gifted you with many talents. He will lead you to a wonderful life.

Callie~

Then and Now...

You have brought us endless love and joy. Keep your faith and enthusiasm. Remember, you can do all things.

Hug, hug, kiss, kiss

Dad, Mom, Colin & Connor

Michael,

Watching you grow from a little boy to a wonderful young man has filled our lives with so much joy. We are very proud of you! Always believe in yourself. There is no limit to what you can accomplish. Congratulations!

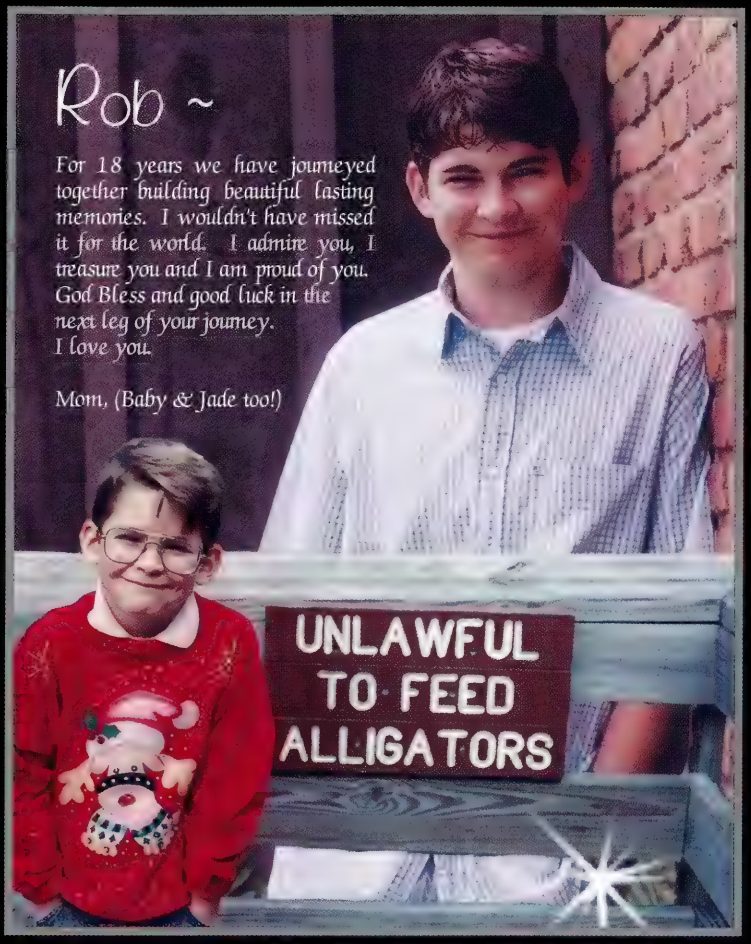
We Love You,

Mom and Dad

Julie,

We are so very proud of you. You have truly been a joy to raise and to love. Thank you for being the wonderful daughter that you are. With your strong commitment to achieve academic excellence, we are certain that all of your goals will become successes, and all of your dreams, a reality. Good Luck at college ~ your future is so bright! Please know that we are here for you always and that you are loved.

Love,
Mom and Dad



Rob ~

For 18 years we have journeyed together building beautiful lasting memories. I wouldn't have missed it for the world. I admire you, I treasure you and I am proud of you. God Bless and good luck in the next leg of your journey.
I love you.

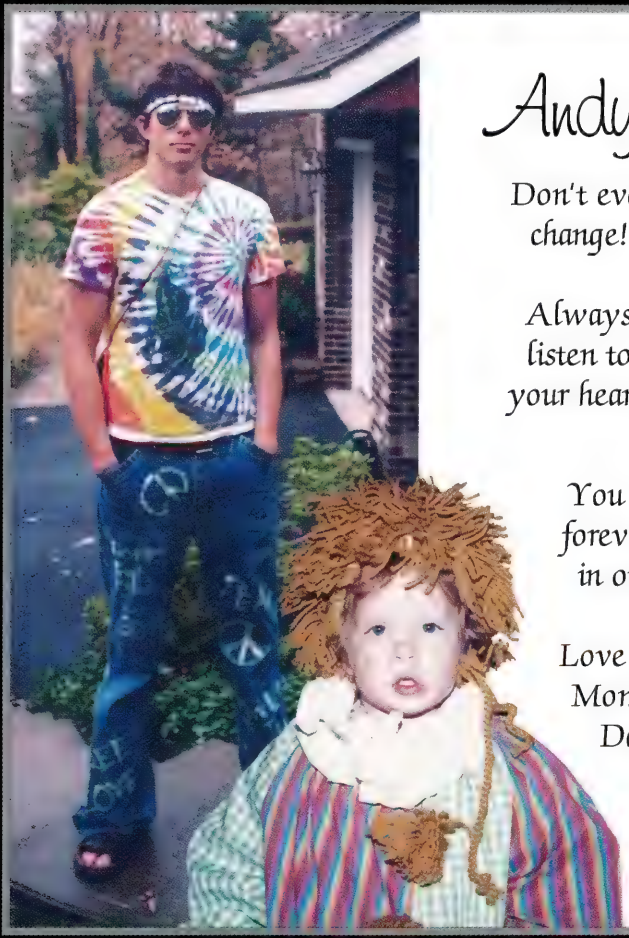
Mom, (Baby & Jade too!)

Through the years, I've watched you grow from daddy's little girl to Miss Independent. From sweet giggles and "Daddy, I love you," to "Dad, can I have the keys to the car," and "Dad, meet the new man in my life..."

Amanda

...it all seems like a blink of an eye and now you are graduating. No matter what life throws at you, always know that I'm so proud of you and you'll always be "Daddy's Little Girl."

Love you...Daddy



Andy...

Don't ever change!

Always listen to your heart.

You will forever be in ours.

Love you,
Mom & Dad

Jen,

From toddler to teen, the years have passed by so quickly. You have given us so many memories to treasure. We are very proud of you.

Love, Mom, Dad and Kim

Antoinette,

You have grown into a fine, young, beautiful woman - smart, honest, and trustworthy - but most of all respectful first of yourself and then others. We're proud to call you our daughter. We love you and wish you great success in whatever roads you choose to travel.

All Our Love! Mom and Dad

~ Danielle ~

Love, Mom and Dad

From the first moment we knew you were coming into the world, you have been an adventure.

We have watched you fall and stand back up. We have seen you love, respect and have an overwhelming sense of humor.

You have won and lost and laughed and cried and been a great friend to all...often at the same time.

In all of that, we have loved you for who you are, and taken joy that you know who you are and where you come from. Your faith, humility and sense of justice will make a difference in the world.

We know that where you are going will continue to be an adventure for all of us, and you will continue to be a joy to those blessed to be around you.

Kira Brill

May all of your dreams come true!

Dream Big!!

Remember to shoot for the moon.

If you miss you will fall among the stars!!

Love, Mom and Dale

Sarah Brill

You've excelled in the classroom, on the wrestling mat and on the soccer field. And, through it all, you've maintained the same wonderful personality.

Eric,

You are truly one-of-a-kind. We couldn't be more proud of you. Best of luck in college and beyond!
Love, Mom, Dad and Kristen

Patrick,

We are so proud of the bright, talented and compassionate young man you have become. Your school years have been a source of absolute delight to your family. Hold tight to your convictions, your sense of humor and your optimism. Patty and God will continue to bless and guide you. We love you!

Mom, Dad and Laura

Seems as if you were just that little toddler getting into trouble with all your antics - we could certainly tell a story or two about you. Remember when you had the pebble stuck in your ear or how about the glass - oh well, there isn't enough space. You have completed your first major lifetime achievement and are embarking on a new chapter of your life. We are so very proud of the beautiful young lady you have become and the decisions you have made thus far in your life - past, present and future. Don't ever forget that we are always there for you, no matter where your travels take you. Our love for you is endless.

Love, Dad, Mom
Becky and Chrissy

Justin,

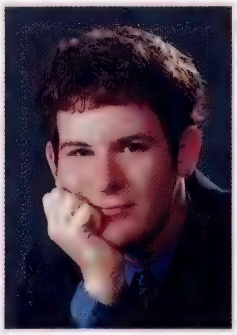
You've made it!!

We are so proud of your accomplishments.

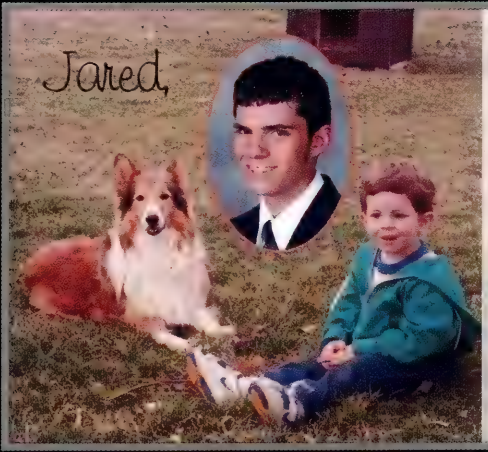
Love Mom, Rick, Shannon and Julie

You have always had the warmest of hearts and a great sense of humor, both of which will take you far in life. We are so proud of the person you are. You have worked hard when you had to and played hard whenever you could. We know you will make your mark in your own way.

Andrew . . .



We love you..
Dad, Mom and Gillian



Jared,

Congratulations! You can't imagine how proud we are of you. As you end this chapter in your life, you begin an even greater one. And, as in the past, we will always be there for you in the future as well. You are the greatest son and big brother anyone could have ever asked for. As you graduate, work hard, enjoy life and believe you can succeed in anything you set your mind to. The sky's the limit.

We love you very much!

Mom, Dad, Jake & Jamilyn

You have become a fine young many who has made our family proud. All the best to you in your future endeavors. Congratulations!

We all hear the ticking of the clock
It won't be long before you're at the Rock
The first, but not the last
You grew up way too fast
Wherever you go, whatever you do
Remember we all love you
Just to embarrass you one more time
We will use "Jessie Bear" in the last line

Denis,

We are so proud of the man you have become, one who now fills those shoes. May you be blessed with a well lit path to a bright future.

All our love and prayers...

Mom, Dad and Ian

From the day you were born, you have filled our hearts with joy and pride. You have been blessed with so many special qualities that continue to brighten the lives of those around you.

You have never been afraid to be yourself or do things your way. You are a wonderful son and brother. Continue to dream and shoot for the stars.

All our love,
Mom, Dad and Greg

You have always made us proud. Since the first day you got on the school bus, in first grade - until ninth grade when you changed schools - until now, you have always been able to accept change and "go with the flow." That attitude will get you far. Good Luck and We Love You!

Mom and Dad

To "Squirt," Our Joel...

Remember the paths you take are the ones you choose. We have always told you that you can achieve anything you work for and when you put your mind to it, you definitely have the determination to accomplish the task.

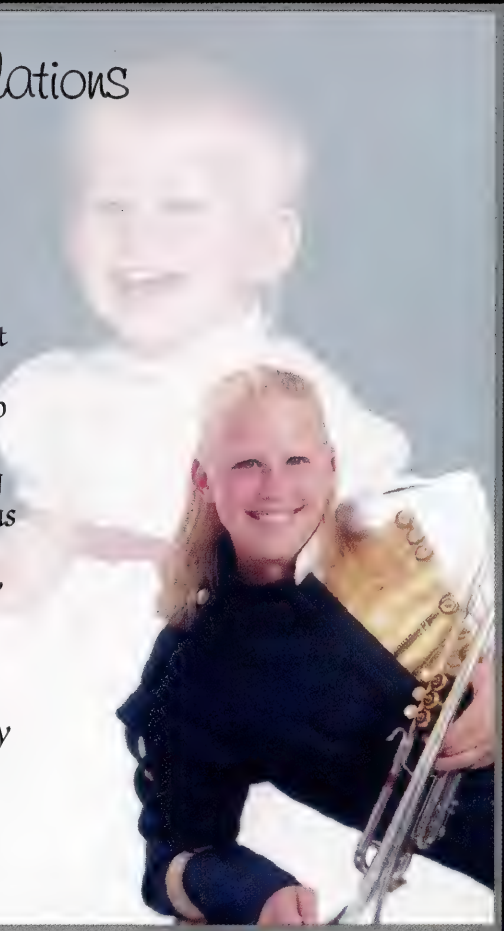
You know we'll always be here for you whether good or bad. In our home, there has been lots of laughter and some tears, but, one thing's for sure, they're wonderful memories.

Now go on to college and take chances to becoming successful. We know you can do it! May God richly bless you as you follow His guidance for you life.

Love and Hugs and Kisses,

Mom, Tim, Joe and Lindsay

Congratulations Pammy ~



Chatterbox, our beautiful baby girl, we love you. Just remember, "Dance as if no one was watching, sing as if no one was listening, and live every day as if it were your last."

We are so very proud of you!

Love, Mom and Dad

Dear Katelyn,

In 1987, a beautiful daughter came into our lives. You were and are the light of our lives. You have so much to look forward to as you graduate from high school. Don't ever let anybody tell you that you can't do something. You know that you can do anything you set your mind to.

You have accomplished so much already, and we are so very proud of you. There's only one "Missy" and we know that you will achieve all of your goals.

Love Always,
Mom, Dad and Christopher

Life is an opportunity,
benefit from it.
Life is beauty, admire it.
Life is bliss, taste it.
Life is a dream, realize it.
Life is a challenge, meet it.
Life is a duty, complete it.
Life is a game, play it.
Life is a promise, fulfill it.
Life is sorrow, overcome it.
Life is a song, sing it.
Life is a struggle, accept it.
Life is a tragedy, confront it.
Life is an adventure, dare it.
Life is luck, make it.
Life is too precious, do
not destroy it
Life is life, fight for it.

Colby, a new chapter of your life is about to begin. Meet it with confidence and know that we are behind you every step of the way.

Love,
Mom, Bill, Logan

The memories and friendships that you've made will last a lifetime. As you go forward in your journey...

...the warmth and kindness of your heart will touch many lives. Be confident. Your many gifts are yet to be discovered.

Billy...

Along the halls of yesterday
Where happy memories grow,
We sometimes see the little boy
We loved so long ago.
He fills the house with noisy fun
And laughter as he plays,
Banging doors in eagerness
To reach his grown-up days...
Today we're proud to see a man
Who's grown to warm our hearts
Even more than the small boy
We loved from the start!
Somewhere between the old memories
And new hopes lies a special moment-
A moment for being glad that you are you
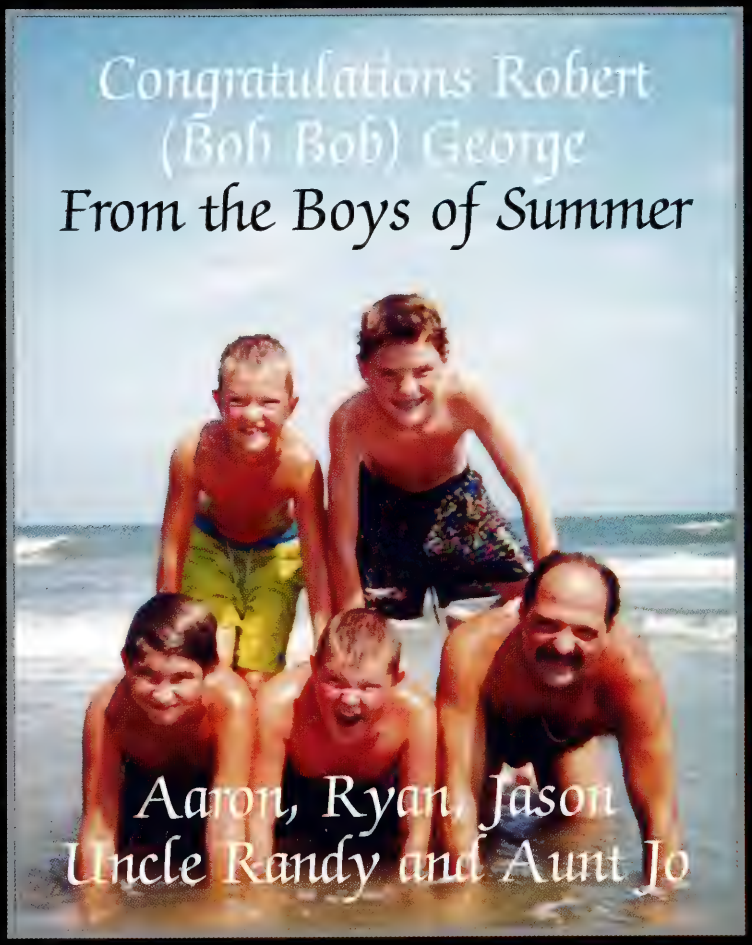
And that there's no one else quite like you

The best is yet to come.

Congratulations and Love,
Mom, Dad, Kristina, Michael & Zachary



Congratulations!

We are so proud of you. May success, love, and happiness follow you...

My Precious Sweet Baby, My Beautiful Young Woman. I'm proud of you. Love, Mom

Cole,

Life is all about choices. How many times have you heard that? Remember this when making those choices. Persevere, don't abandon your dreams, and know that we love you and we are always here for you through your successes and failures. These will be the experiences that define your future and the qualities that will make you a man. Be true to yourself and respect and love those who have touched your life. You will never know how much you have touched ours. And lastly, "Life is not measured by the number of breaths we take, but by the moments that take our breath away." Enjoy! With all our love, Mom, Dad, Dani, and Corey

Trisha & Ashley,

You two have been friends since you were babies and you have made both of your families so proud. We all wish you the very best and we love you sooo.... much!

Dinky Doodles...
Our Little Princess...

It's hard to put into words how precious you are to us. From a little girl to a wonderful young woman, know that we love you and will always be here for you. Your future is set high and we know you'll achieve. You have been the greatest daughter any two parents could have asked for.

You are like a beautiful dove, waiting to be set free...So, spread your wings and fly...

Watch out world, because the most wonderful and beautiful woman is about to enter...

We have held you long enough and now we must share you with the world...So, please God, keep her safe and keep the angels near...

Love you Dinky...
Dad, Mom, Paige and Grandparents

A mother held her new baby and very slowly rocked him back and forth, back and forth, back and forth. And while she held him, she sang:

I'll love you forever, I'll like you for always, as long as I'm living, my baby you'll be.

Love, Mom

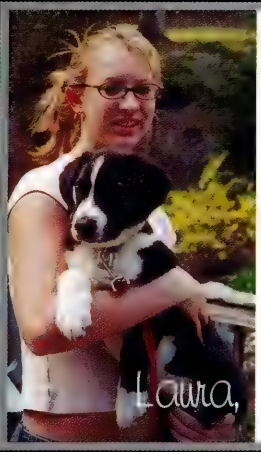
Russell,

Jenna,

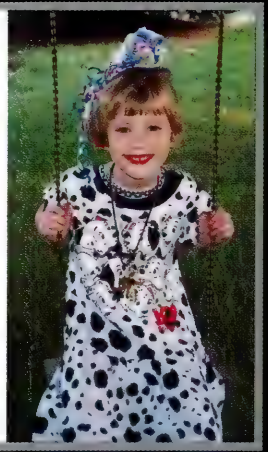
We are so proud of you and are so blessed to have such a beautiful daughter. Your accomplishments have been many with more to come. God has blessed you with special gifts and we know you will use them to bring great joy and happiness to others.

We love you very much,

Mom and Dad



Where have the last 18 years gone? It seems like yesterday that you and Amber were playing office or bank or dolls. We miss that spunky girl, but are so proud of the independent young woman that you have become. We wish for you only the best that life has to offer. Be happy and know that we love you!
Mom, Dad, Abby, Pap and Libby



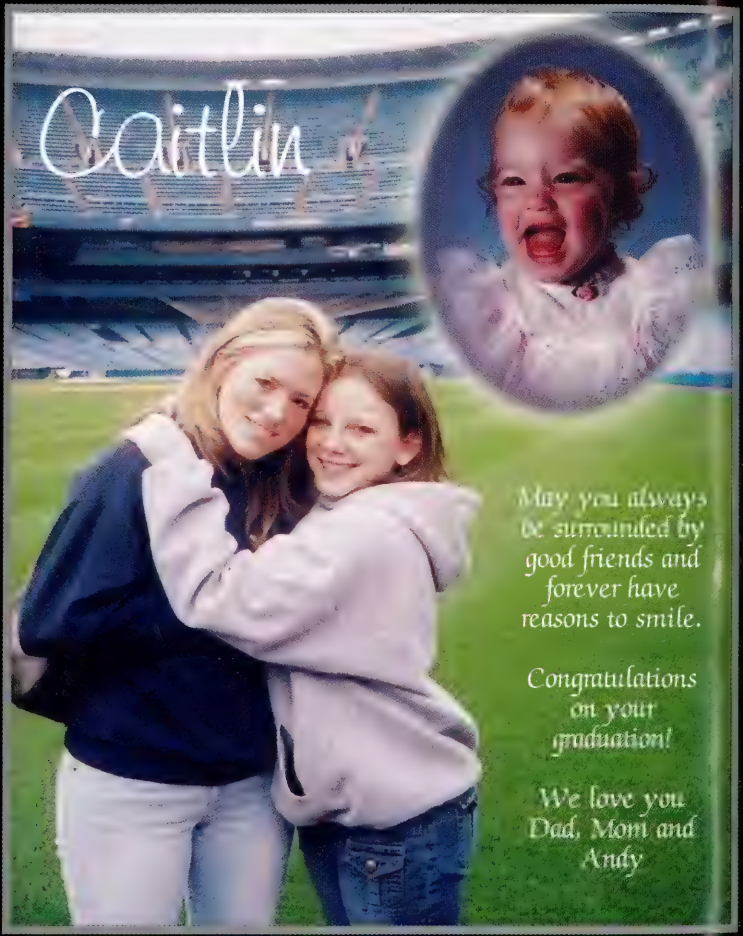
We are proud of the woman you've become. Your strong will and determination will help you accomplish your goals. These attributes, along with your love and compassion will help you achieve happiness and success throughout your life.

All our love,
Dad and Mom

"Another turning point, a fork stuck in the road.
Time grabs you by the wrist, directs you where to go.
So, make the best of the test and don't ask why.
It's not a question, but a lesson learned in time.
It's something unpredictable, but in the end it's right.
I hope you had the time of your life."

Love,

Mom, Dad, Michael, and Richard



May you always be surrounded by good friends and forever have reasons to smile.

Congratulations on your graduation!

We love you

The past is memories, the present is plans, and the future is fulfilling dreams. With pride in your past accomplishments, and hope for your future, Jonathan, we congratulate you as you graduate, and wish you success and happiness always.

Lots of love,
Grandma and Pap Debick

Congratulations Danielle

We have always been so proud of you. You are truly a special daughter and sister.

Thanks for all the happiness, love and laughter you've brought into our lives.

Remember to always follow your dreams, for they will take you wherever you want to go.

We wish you much success.

We love you,
Dad, Mom, Chris,
and April-Lynn

I can't believe how fast these years have gone. Your Dad and I are very proud of all you have accomplished in your high school years. We know you will continue to succeed wherever your life leads you. We wish you happiness and luck for your future.

Jessica,

From a four year old posing for a picture to a young adult in Paris, France, you've grown up so much. Congratulations on being a senior. Amanda, you're a beautiful and talented young lady and we are proud of you. You have been thrown curves, but you've succeeded and accomplished so much.

Duckie,

Good luck next year at college. We know you will make a great forensic scientist someday. Remember, creativity is the power to connect the seemingly unconnected.

We Love You,
Mom, Dad, Crystal and Jill

Jessy ~

In 1986, God blessed us with you. As the years have passed, He has blessed you with many talents and the fun-loving attitude that makes you who you are today. We love you and are very proud of you.

Grandma Beck

Dear Kristen

Letting go of you is going to be tough. Looking forward to your future is exciting. Enjoy life every day. You are a sweet, loving daughter and the best sister. We're so proud of you!

Love,

Dad, Mom,
Paul, Fred
and Pete

Ashleigh

Words cannot express how very proud we are of you. You have grown into a beautiful young woman. Now that you are graduating, pursue your love for life and your love of baking. Whatever you do, make it your life's passion and you'll go far.

Always remember your family, from your parents and your brother, to grandparents, aunts, uncles and neighbors; we are all here to support and love you. Also, remember that Grandfather is watching over you; he is your guardian angel. You are our gift from God. You are beautiful.....

We love you so much!

Little Miss Angie Marie

You are the sunshine of our lives.

Love,
Mom
and Dad

Look at you now... Andy!

You are a parent's dream. Andy, you have always been kind, and thoughtful. I will never forget the boy who couldn't walk; it was he you would call and make sure he could come over to play gameboy. No one wanted to bother, but you did, without thinking twice. Courage and Character and Loving are your strong suits and we couldn't be any prouder of you! You are a Child of God and you have shown to us, your parents, that you are walking with God, as each day you choose to do what is right and not what is easy. Your smiling eyes and your laugh is in our hearts forever. Andrew, you have seen so much, and you have learned well by all of your journeys. We Love You, "Mr. Bob" and will remember your love for Maxwell and your family and the good, true friends you have met while living here in Leechburg, PA. You're a deep soul with love always being a part of your every day. How very blessed we are to have had the honor of being your parents. God Bless You Andy, Always! Thank you for allowing us to direct your course and for loving us back.

Congratulations Andrew Stephen Wutsch and walk this life well. As you have what it takes, the sky is the limit for you! So, reach for the stars.

The 2005 Campus Staff would like to thank the following patrons for their continued support.

Courtney Anne ~

Congratulations on your Graduation!

It seems like only yesterday that you were our precious little girl, and now you have become a beautiful, intelligent and loving young woman. You are a very special part of our lives. We are extremely proud of you and your accomplishments over these years. Your enchanting smile, free spirit, dedication, and compassionate nature make you a unique person.

Courtney Dear, "Listen to the music in your heart and dance to the rhythm of life."

With the help of God's guidance, and your faith, let your heart, soul and mind set you on your path of life so that you make your dreams a reality.

We wish you the same joy, happiness and fulfillment in your future that you have given us by being an integral part of our family.

We love, cherish and support you in life's journey always and forever.

May God Bless You,
Mom, Dad, Ryan and Twinkle

The 2004-2005 Campus Yearbook staff chose "Piece by Piece" as the theme to reflect the end of renovations at the high school. We aimed to demonstrate how the high school and everyone who walked its halls matured, one piece at time.

The 2005 Campus yearbook represented the 43rd for Kiski Area High School, 200 Poplar Street, Vandergrift, PA 15690, telephone (724) 845-8181. The staff ordered 1075 books from Taylor Publishing Company, 10365 Railroad Drive, El Paso,TX 79924. This book employed a Smythe type binding with 100# enamel paper inside. The yearbook staff utilized EliteVision, Taylor's premium yearbook creation program, to produce the book. Additionally, Taylor chose this book to overrun as national samples - an honor bestowed to approximately 200 among thousands of organizations per year.

Gary Gibson - Studio G, 202 Longfellow St. - Vandergrift, PA - telephone (724) 567-1500 provided all of the club, sports team, musical ensemble, and senior panel pictures.

Paige Duckworth - Hourglass Studio, 2 Labelle Vue Rd. - Vandergrift, telephone (724) 568-3128 provided all of the underclass panel pictures.

Campus related prices for the 2004-2005 school year included:

- Book: $50 (if on time)
- Waiting List: $60
- Business Ads: 1/8 pg.: $45, 1/4 pg.: $60, 1/2 pg.: $90, Full pg.: $120,
- Patron Listing: $5
- Parent Ads: 1/8 pg.: $30 1/4 pg.: $50
- Protective Cover: $1

On behalf of the entire Campus Staff, we thank everyone who helped in some way with this book, especially Life's Little Instruction Book for the Life Lessons in the Clubs section.

At four years old, I peeked out the window of my bedroom every morning to watch my older cousins get on the big yellow school bus. For the past 13 years, I woke up each day and actually got on the bus; the view from my bedroom window changed very little over the years. I found myself continuing to look out the window, hoping for a glance at what lies ahead. Finally, the window has opened and its view truly amazes me. I stand as part of Kiski's Class or 2005, looking forward to the future, into the unknown.

Just as we walked up the tall steps of the giant, yellow bus on our first day of kindergarten, we must now step into the next frame of our lives. No matter what lies ahead - college, military or employment - each one of us has the chance to embrace success. The opportunities seem endless. Never let fear of the unknown hold you back, for just as we conquered the unfamiliarity of elementary school, we will once again overcome all obstacles that lie ahead.

I wish each class member the best of luck. We grew up, regardless whether we wanted to or not. We became individuals and in the process, we gained confidence in ourselves. We no longer need the support of Kiski Area to get us through every trying situation.

At the end of our junior year, we stood amazed that our senior year of high school had come so quickly. Now, it seems even harder to believe that our last year at Kiski has come to an end. Reflecting on the future, I offer the following. Live life to the fullest and take every chance. Never fear failure and never let doubt hinder your efforts. Sail to new heights and accomplish that which you never thought possible. Shoot for the moon and land beyond. Always remember your classmates and the friendships that you made in high school. Finally, and most importantly, never compromise your morals; stand true to your beliefs and do not let others misshape your character. Collectively, we shall forever remain Kiski's Class of 2005.

Sadly, we will never partake in another pep rally, enjoy another study hall, purchase another sweet treat, or don another navy blue gym suit. Certainly, the time to leave high school has finally arrived and we now stand at a new beginning with the rest of our lives before us. Author and playwright Patrick Overton once wrote, "When we walk to the edge of all the light we have to take the step into the darkness of the unknown, we must believe that one of two things will happen: there will be something solid for us to stand on or we will be taught to fly." I sincerely hope each and every one of you grows wings and takes flight.

For well over a decade, each of us diligently worked to complete the first jigsaw puzzle of our lives. Pieces of friendship and family, clubs and sports, music and art, teachers and administrators, exams and homework, skills and projects, and most importantly, character and values have fit together to reveal brilliant pictures. We must now each open a new box. Its contents will surely contain more pieces than the first. However, the final picture will unveil an even greater masterpiece. We owe thanks to the Kiski faculty and administration for equipping us with the means to place future pieces where they belong. We now look forward to opening our boxes and organizing the contents as we begin to once again build the picture. We will confidently do so. . . piece by piece.
